GANG KILLERS BURN VICTIM

Today

A Useful Fund.
Britain Worries.
All This Will Pass.
Eel, Lizard, Squirrel.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE PRESIDENT'S conference and his announcement concerning a $500,000,000 fund is well received by business, and the stock market.

The most encouraging part of the program, which must be read between the lines, is to increase the "flexibility" of the Federal Reserve Board, making it possible for that institution to fulfill its function as intended.

THE PLAIN ENGLISH of the matter is that the Federal Reserve can print money, issue it against good security, and thus make credit available for those entitled to it.

But with Federal Reserve transactions limited to rediscounting commercial paper, the kind of paper that becomes scarce or disappears in a depression the Federal Reserve automatically ceases to function when it is most urgently needed.

IT IS THE DUTY of the country and the government to reassure the millions of bank depositors needlessly alarmed as to the safety of their deposits, and make it possible for banks to obtain currency against so-called "frozen assets" that can be sold only at an outrageous sacrifice in such times as these.

THE BRITISH form an unpleasant mob when really aroused, and, unlike bigger mobs in India, cannot be handled with light sticks in the hands of a few soldiers or police. For that reason Britain has wisely done whatever was necessary to keep the mob quiet. The dole was part of that necessity.

In Manchester yesterday idle men and women, infuriated by reduction of the dole, attacked mounted police with stones, and were dispersed only by firemen with powerful streams of water.

ABANDONMENT OF the gold standard in England, reducing the value of pounds, shillings and pence, cutting down the buying power of the dole that is left, may arouse more trouble.

The British, said to be worrying about "a collapse in the United States," should reserve some worrying power for home use.

BY WAY OF REMINDING you that it is possible to take things too gloomily, John M. Hitz, of 25 Broadway, New York City, sends an editorial statement from which extracts follow:

"It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper—has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never the future has seemed so incalculable as at this time. In our country there is universal commercial prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow-citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it.

"In France the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs as usual, like a cloud, dark and silent upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies and influence of the British empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely.

"It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference in the issue of events.

"Of our own troubles no man can see the end. They are, fortunately, as yet mainly commercial; and if we are only to lose money, and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom—the wisdom of honor, of faith, of sympathy and of charity—no man need seriously to despair.

"And yet the very haste to be rich, which is the occasion of this wide-spread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity."

IT MAY COMFORT you a little, perhaps persuade you that the end of the world has not yet come, to learn that what you read above was published in Harper's Weekly on October 10, 1857, 74 years ago.

In spite of all that gloom, and various Civil War panics that followed it, the United States DID COME BACK.

And it will come back again, more prosperous than ever, more intelligent. Also let us hope that intelligence will take the form of forbidding high financial crooks to dump tens of millions of shares of worthless stock on the gambling public.

ONE PHILOSOPHICAL person, making the best of other men's troubles, says the depression will be good for the United States, "rousing us from our lethargy."

It will stir up new ideas, new resources, and that will be history repeating itself. Our ancestors a million years ago lived in a constant "depression."

Their teeth were too feeble compete with the wolf, their nails not strong enough to compete with the panther's claws. They could not climb away from danger like the monkey, or fly away from it like the bird. THEREFORE THEY HAD TO USE THEIR BRAINS. And on that necessity all our progress is based.

IN THE PRESENT emergency, only thinking, planning and working are essential to the success that can be found as well in a depression as at any other time. The man of 1931 requires the qualities that Voltaire attributed to himself in a letter to D'Argental:

"I am subtle as an eel, lively as a lizard, and industrious as a squirrel."

It is well also to be as thoughtful as an elephant and

ARMSTRONG CONCEDES DEFEAT

Name Won't Go on Ballot, Commissioner Declares; More Indictments Due

Events in the wake of the primary election moved to a climax today with these developments:

1—County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong conceded defeat for renomination as the official count showed him trailing C. C. McGovern by 1,708 votes, with only one contested district not tabulated.

2—The grand jury probing alleged frauds was preparing to make a second presentment tomorrow, reported to name several "higher ups."

3—Peter A. Connors, former star sleuth of the city detective bureau, was let out as chief investigator of the Registration Commission, heralding a drastic shakeup of that board's force.

ARMSTRONG STATEMENT

Armstrong's statement, made as the last vestage of hope faded with virtually complete tabulations by the Return Board, was brief:

"The votes are being tabulated. I do not happen to be one of the successful candidates. Therefore my name will not appear on the ballot.

"I've lost, but I want to be a good sport about it."

Armstrong went to the office of his fellow-Commissioner and and victorious rival to congratulate him, but McGovern was not in.

The election fraud investigating grand jury was preparing a second presentment today that was expected to name "higher-ups" in the vote activities incidental to the September primaries.

A rough draft of the presentment submitted to the jury last night was being revised today by District Attorney Andrew T. Park and his aides.

PRESENTMENT TOMORROW

The presentment was to be submitted to the court tomorrow.

E. Lowry Humes, of the Registration Commission; Lawrence E. Orr, court stenographer, and County Detective David Drexler, election expert, were the last witnesses to appear before the jury today.

Current reports had it that persons having to do with assess-

EXTRA SESSION URGED ON HOOVER

$500,000,000 Bankers Pool To Be Incorporated in 48 Hours, President Is Told

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Demands that President Hoover call an extra session of Congress to act on his "prosperity program" were renewed vigorously today as the Hoover $500,000,000 bank credit plan was being speeded to materialization.

The full force of the Democratic leadership was thrown behind the agitation for a special session today when Senator Joe T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the floor leader, and Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, appealed to the President, declaring the psychological benefits of his program would be lost unless legislation is enacted immediately to enforce his proposals.

ROBINSON'S DEMAND

Robinson said:

"As far as the President's banking proposals go, I regard them as sound, practical and

TWO DIE AS AUTO WRECK PERILS CARDS' TRAIN

Squirrel Hill Men Killed, Alderman Goldstein Hurt As Car Plunges to Tracks

The plunge of an automobile from the Lincoln Highway to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at Lancaster last night, which killed two Pittsburghers and seriously injured another, almost caused the wrecking of a special train taking the St. Louis National League baseball team home from Philadelphia. The Pittsburghers were returning from the world series games in Philadelphia.

TWO KILLED

Louis Goldstein, of 3172 Beechwood boulevard, and M. M. Beck, of 5729 Darlington road, were killed and Alderman Sol S. Goldstein, of the Wendover apartments, was seriously hurt.

Police said an automobile driven by Alexander Golden, of New York, sideswiped the car of the Pittsburghers, which plunged through a guard rail and fell 35 feet to the tracks.

P. E. Beane, of Paradise, heard the crash and called the signal tower. William Trout, operator in the tower, threw the block signal and slowed the Cardinals' special, then detoured it around the auto wreckage.

Alderman Goldstein suffered a broken hip, fractured left leg, a broken shoulder and internal injuries. The blowout of a tire is believed to have caused the accident.

CHILDREN ORPHANED

Louis Goldstein's wife died a year ago, and he leaves two children. Beck conducted a garage at 1919 Murray avenue, near the office of Alderman Goldstein. He was married and has two children.

Matthew Stark, 30, of Woodmont avenue, East McKeesport, was killed last night when his motorcycle collided with a truck in the Moss Side boulevard, North Versailles Township. His skull was fractured. William T. Morano, of 512 East Main street, East Pittsburgh, the truck driver, is to post bond with the Coroner today pending the inquest.

MRS. GEORGE H. HARTFORD

TWO OTHERS SLAIN IN RACKETS

Body Found Aflame Near Turtle Creek; Man Shot on Hill; Third 'Taken for Ride'

Wrapped in a gasoline-soaked blanket and blazing furiously, the body of an unidentified man was found shortly before noon today in a thicket in Peterson Hollow, near Hall Station, Patton Township—victim of the third gang killing in Western Pennsylvania in less than 24 hours.

The victim of the "torch" murder apparently had been beaten into unconsciousness and then dragged from an automobile to the thicket by an improvised noose.

SHOT DEAD IN STREET

In the first outbreak dapper Jack Palmere, 35, bootleg supply king, was shot to death in Wylie avenue, near Chatham street, as he chatted with a friend in front of a store. A few hours later the body of a man believed to have been a resident of Aliquippa was found in a ditch on the outskirts of Youngstown, O., his skull fractured and stab wounds in his breast.

The blazing body was found by Steve Fostar, who with his cousin, Peter Fostar, resides on the Double farm. Searching the hillside surrounding Peterson Hollow for straying cows, Steve Fostar told Chief of Police William J. Whalen, of Turtle Creek, his attention was first attracted to the thicket by the blaze. At the same time he said he heard an automobile speeding away. He said:

"Smoke was curling over the top of the thicket and I drew closer. Then I found the body. Calling my cousin, we summoned Chief Whalen from Turtle Creek."

IDENTITY MYSTERY

The body was still burning when Whalen arrived. The flames were extinguished with water from a nearby creek, but not before the corpse had been seared so badly as to make identification practically impossible.

The body had been wrapped in a blanket and then tied with rope. Another rope was fastened to the neck of the dead man who had

ORPHANS SAVED WITH ADMIRAL

CAPE HENRY, Va., Oct. 8.—(AP.)—A man believed to be Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, retired, and five of the seven orphaned Russian children he adopted in 1920, were landed here today by the pilot boat William D. Sanner.

The man and children immediately boarded a bus for Norfolk without giving details of the reported sinking of their motor cruiser in the Chesapeake Bay some time during the night.

Admiral McCully's cruiser was believed to have been rammed and sunk by the Norwegian steamer Verona, bound from Baltimore to Cuba. The Verona cleared from Baltimore early yesterday. The former naval officer left yesterday in his cruiser for a leisurely trip to his home in Charleston, S. C. He was accompanied by the children.

Stocks Renew Rise, Wall St. Confident

Steel Crosses 70, Bankers Push Credit Plans

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(AP.)—While bankers held further conferences on details of the $500,000,000 credit organization now being formed to thaw out frozen assets of banks, the stock market gave a practical demonstration of the confidence which President Hoover's program seeks to restore.

Although trading was quiet, shares were supported by fresh buying, and advances of $2 to $4 in principal issues were numerous. The bond market, which is being looked to for leadership, also pointed higher, but the volume was somewhat smaller than yesterday.

The rise in stocks was interrupted occasionally by profit-taking. However, recessions attracted further purchasing orders.

United States Steel common, crossing $70, was up more than $2. New York Central was particularly strong, rallying more than $4 to above $57. American Telephone, crossing $133, was more than $3 higher. Westinghouse Electric rose over $2.

It is believed the proposed credit corporation will be ready to function in about 10 days.

Bankers reported that out-of-town institutions were expressing their willingness to co-operate. Although the amount of subscriptions so far received from the interior was unavailable, it was understood those banks were preparing to come forward with their $350,000,000 participation. The remainder has already been raised among the New York city clearing house banks.

On Way to Pay Bill, Boy Robbed of $1

On his way to pay a gas bill at the office of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Millbridge and Manton streets, today, Walter Ordelt, 8, of 127 Walter avenue, Allentown, was robbed of $1 by a man who fled.

Jack Birkel, 14, of 129 Beltzhoover avenue, robbed in a similar manner of $5 a year ago, saw today's robbery and said the robber was the same who had tricked him.

Miss Miller, also knowns as Mrs. Mary Ryan, shot McErlene after a quarrel in February, 1930.

A hunt for Frank McErlene, living or dead, was begun. The woman may have been the luckless victim of assassins looking for McErlene, the beer runner, burglar, gangster and reputed killer who more than once has dodged death by a hair.

Night Riders Guard Irene's Minister in Church Fued

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Oct. 8.—The Rev. Harold L. Teagarden, ex-minister of the Methodist Church and spiritual advisor to the late Irene Schoder and Glenn Dague, is the center of another fiery episode, which has divided the 106 souls of Sewellville into two camps.

Charged with assault by Elder L. C. Hoffman last Sunday, Teagarden claimed he was "framed," and that the charge was the outcome of a deliberate attempt to run him out of Sewellsville. He asked for a hearing next Tuesday before Squire C. D. Bradfield.

Factional trouble in the church, creating such excitement that night riders in black robes surrounded Teagarden's house last night as a visible means of protention, is believed to be at the bottom of the difficulties.

The assault is aid to have occurred in front of the entire congregation last Sunday. The former pastor, expelled from the Northeastern Ohio Conference several years ago, is reported to have seized Hoffman by the throat, forcing him over a seat near the pulpit. Hoffman said he was rescued by the congregation. Teagarden said:

"I was deliberately framed last Sunday morning in church by the Hoffman crowd. They tried to make trouble and immediately after being necked by Hoffman they announced that I was to be arrested, but I will be in Sewellsville when that crowd leaves. I am a member of the Sewellsville church and have as much say as any other man. I am not dependent on the church for a living. I have my coal mine and am still an ordained minister of God.

"There will be fireworks in court next Thursday."

Edison Vitality in Hopeless Crisis Amazes Doctor

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Thomas Alva Edison spent a very restless night while President Hoover and a nation of close friends inquired constantly for any change in his condition.

He did not appear to be weaker today, his physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, announced in his morning bulletin. It read:

"Mr. Edison passed a very restless night. He ate a fair breakfast and does not appear to be weaker than last night. His vitality is amazing."

Dr. Howe said yesterday, however, that death was inevitable in a few days as a result of the uremic poisoning penetrating his system.

A late bulletin last night showed no change in his condition from the earlier announcements. That one stated he was losing ground, but that his heart stood the strain of the complication of diseases.

Lawrence Richey, one of President Hoover's secretaries, telephoned the Edison home and requested that the White House be notified of any changes in his condition.

Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone, close friends and fellow-vacationists of the inventor, also telephoned constantly and inquired about his condition.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Support of President Hoover's plan for liberalization of the Federal Reserve System in the next Congress was pledged today by Representative Guy E. Campbell, Pittsburgh.

Senator Walsh said:

"I am glad to see the universal satisfaction with which the President's program has been received, but it seems to me that if so much could be accomplished by the mere declaration that the President would propose these measures to Congress, meeting two months hence a great deal more could be accomplished by convening Congress at once."

Meanwhile, the White House announced that the moratorium [illegible] as suggested by the leaders of Congress. Tuesday night by President Hoover, will be incorporated within the next 48 hours.

JURY REFUSED CANNON DATA

Page explained to the grand jury that the House was not in session and its rules prohibited him from surrendering its records without specific authorization.

The jury is investigating charges that Bishop Cannon violated the corrupt practices act in failing to report to Congress on certain anti-Smith political expenditures in 1928.

SCORES MELLON REIGN IN SLUMP

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, today blamed a "series of responsible human acts, policies and practices of government" for the depression and attributed to the Washington administration during the past 10 years the major share of responsibility for conditions. He told the Georgia convention of Kiwanis Clubs here:

"Business depressions do not produce themselves. With the inauguration of President Harding, the business interests of this country assumed complete control of the affairs of government. The industrial, commercial, financial—in a word, the corporate interests of America—converged in the person of Andrew W. Mellon, the Secretary of the Treasury.

"The group represented by him has dominated the commercial and industrial affairs of the nation for 10 years. That group is yet dominant and its spokesmen everywhere voice the whimpering excuse that our difficulties are due to general world conditions over which we have no control."

HOOVER, LAVAL TO TALK DEBT EXTENSION

President Warned of Fight In Senate and House on Long Moratorium Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Extension of the international moratorium beyond next June is to be discussed by President Hoover and Premier Laval of France.

The Premier has expressed his willingness to go into the question during his visit this month to Washington.

Meanwhile, as President Hoover gives consideration to necessity for seeking a further extension, he has before him a warning of opposition from both Senate and House members.

Indications are that he will postpone his decision for several weeks and possibly until the present moratorium is ratified by Congress after it convenes in December.

Chairman Borah, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, gave warning to the chief executive at his White House conference Tuesday night that he would oppose a new debt holiday unless it provided for a paring down of European armaments. He also desires that Germany shall benefit through curtailed reparations payments.

From the Democratic party the President has the word of Representative Garner, of Texas, that while he purposes opposing ratification of the present moratorium, he would inject more strenuous efforts against an extension proposal.

On the other side of the picture, however, Mr. Hoover sees pressure from leading bankers not only for a more lengthy moratorium, but among some for full cancellation of war debts. Only yesterday the American Bankers' Association recorded itself in favor of an extension.

Britain Seeking Part In Hoover Laval Meet

LONDON, Oct. 8.—(INS.)—Possibility that the forthcoming conversations between Premier Pierre Laval, of France, and President Hoover, in Washington, might develop into a three-power conference loomed here today with indications Great Britain was trying to include herself in the meeting.

Official circles pointed out diplomatically that this country would be glad to participate. Unofficially, it was hinted Britain might go so far as to suggest her inclusion in the conversations.

The Marquess of Reading, Secretary for Foreign Affairs in the coalition cabinet, was held to be the logical candidate to represent Britain at the conference should Washington prove sympathetic to British participation.

In this connection, Lord Reading's present visit to Paris was cloaked with renewed significance. Since his arrival in the French capital on Tuesday he has been in constant touch with Premier Laval and members of the French cabinet.

It was reported yesterday he had formulated a plan of his own for world financial reconstruction, to be submitted to President Hoover by Premier Laval in the name of Great Britain if it met with French approval.

BRUENING FACES BATTLE

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service.

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—With apparently little hope of success, Chancellor Heinrich Bruening was engaged today in the difficult task of organizing the non-partisan government desired by President von Hindenberg.

The President wants a cabinet strong enough to deal with opposition in the Reichstag to the new emergency economic measures which have been put into effect by decree, but the widening breach between Socialists and Nationalists indicated the Chancellor would be unable to form anything like a "national government."

It was expected Bruening would retain at least six members of the old cabinet. The Chancellor himself planned to act as foreign minister in place of Julius Curtius, with Secretary of State Bernhard von Buelow in active charge at the foreign office.

HOOVER LAYS WORLD ILLS TO BANKERS

Loans to Foreign Countries For Unproductive Uses Assailed by the President

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Responsibility for much of the economic distress now felt throughout the world rests with American bankers who have made ill-advised loans to foreign countries, President Hoover said in effect today in an address before the fourth Pan-American commercial conference.

Repeating from a statement made to this same body four years ago, President Hoover declared that "no nation, as a government, should borrow or its government lend, and nations should discourage their citizens from borrowing or lending unless this money is to be devoted to productive purposes."

If this advice had been followed during the past five years "our problems throughout the world would be far different, our difficulties infinitely less," the President declared.

His address was made before the third plenary session of the conference, which is meeting at the Pan-American Union. He did not mention tariffs, the subject which has been uppermost in the minds of most of the delegates, but this topic was on the program for discussion immediately following his talk.

Practically the whole of the address was devoted to a restatement of the position the President took four years ago with regard to international loans and the declaration that failure to heed the warning sounded then had produced many of the present day ills.

U. S. RESERVE CHANGES SEEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS.)—Reorganization of the Federal Reserve System, so that it will be adequate to meet the needs of present day industry, commerce and banking as well as the emergency situation, will be recommended to Congress by the Treasury Department, it was made known officially today.

Experts of the Federal Reserve Board, the Treasury and the office of the comptroller of the currency are concentrating on the drafting of plans for the revision. Some recommendations will go to Congress in December.

This will mean a reserve system which will have sufficient broad power to function as will the voluntary organization of bankers who agreed at conferences with President Hoover and Secretary Mellon to raise a fund of $500,000,000 to go to the aid of weaker banks.

McCormack, 63, was on trial for two weeks with Mrs. S. W. Huntington and her son, S. W. Huntington, members of a prominent Southern California family, both of whom were acquitted.

The jury foreman had barely finished reading the verdict when McCormack jerked a revolver from his pocket and shot himself in the chest. He fell dead on the courtroom floor.

as persistent as a spider. It no longer suffices to be vice president of a trust company, swell out your chest and say solemnly:

"I suppose so."

PARIS INVENTS the banker that Eugene Meyer, Jr., head of the Federal Reserve, favors bimetalism, but Paris misunderstands that bland young gentleman, whose face, as innocent as that of an incubator baby, is the mask of a mind that works incessantly, ably, and believes in the soundest kind of sound money. His motto is:

"Nothing done suddenly."

It may be that he, like everybody, is asking the question:

"Is there enough gold in the world to provide a foundation, a 'standard,' for the amount of money required by modern industry and commerce?"

Socrates Prayer Marks Morrow's Simple Rites

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Senator Dwight W. Morrow was buried yesterday after a funeral service as free from pomp as his rank in the nation would permit.

His family, notables of the government, and friends and neighbors filled the First Presbyterian Church to honor the memory of the man who four years ago turned from a position high in the financial world to become a leader in American diplomatic circles.

Organ music, two hymns, an extemporaneous prayer, scriptural reading, the Lord's Prayer and Socrates' Prayer from the Phaedrus of Plato were all that took place in the church.

The selection was:

"Socrates—Give me beauty in the inward soul; and may the outward and inward man be as one. May I reckon the wise to be the wealthy, and may I have such a quantity of gold as a temperate man and he only can bear and carry. Anything more? The prayer, I think, is enough for me.

"Phaedrus—Ask the same for me, for friends should have all things in common."

Englewood's stores, offices, schools and theaters were closed.

INFRINGEMENT CHARGED BY INVENTOR

The damages involved are said to be limited to a period between October 10, 1925, and November 10, 1928—this date being that of the expiration of the patent rights.

Banker, a noted bicycle rider and one of the pioneers of the Pittsburgh automobile industry, was represented by Attorney William S. Jaspert.

Gandhi, Fearing Ridicule, Balks At U. S. Visit

LONDON, Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Mahatma Gandhi is willing to go to the United States at the conclusion of the round table conference if his American friends can convince John Haynes Holmes, New York pastor, that the Mahatma would not be made a laughing-stock.

Pressed to make the trip by American visitors, Gandhi said today:

"Holmes, in whose opinion I place the greatest reliance, tells me my visit would be misunderstood, that I would be exploited, ridiculed and misinterpreted. On the other hand I've had pressing invitations signed by leading Americans.

"I have a great affection for the American people and feel sure that I have a great many friends across the Atlantic, and I don't want to sacrifice that friendship.

"Einstein, after visiting America, said it was the greatest mistake of his life, because most Americans regarded him only as a spectacle. I'm not as sensitive as Einstein, but I ought not to go to America unless the American people are willing to listen to my message rather than regard me as a curiosity."

Gandhi announced today at the meeting of the Indian Minorities Committee, presided over by Prime Minister MacDonald, that he had failed completely to settle the Hindu-Moslem communal problem.

He qualified his statement, however, by saying that this does not mean that he has abandoned hope of ever arriving at a solution of this issue. He said:

"I propose to use the present failure as a stepping-stone to success."

'RICHEST YOUTH' AND BRIDE TO LIVE APART

W.Va. Girl and Hartford Heir Separate Until Completion Of Education by Both International News Service.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8.—Plans to live apart from her husband, George Huntington Hartford, the "world's richest boy" and heir to a $200,000,000 fortune, for at least two years until both have completed their college studies, had been revealed today by the former Miss Mary Lee Epling, daughter of Dr. G. T. Epling, Welch (W. Va.) dentist.

Returning to Cambridge following their marriage at the bride's home and their honeymoon to Hawaii, Mrs. Hartford took an apartment here, which she will share with two other school chums and a chaperone until she finishes her studies. She is a senior at a kindergarten school, and was president of her class last year.

Meanwhile, more than a mile away, her husband has taken living quarters in a dormitory at Harvard University where he is a junior. Mrs. Hartford declared that she will teach school until Hartford is graduated.

The youthful, pretty bride, still in her 'teens, cleared up the mystery surrounding her marriage to Hartford. She said:

"Yes, we are married, but our families have not formally announced it because of all the publicity of late."

This was her only reference to the $100,000 suit brought against Hartford's mother, Mrs. Henrietta G. Hartford, of Newport, R. I., by Miss Mildred King, Boston Conservatory of Music student.

Scarecrow Man In Rigid Stand Hospital Puzzle

DENVER, Col., Oct. 8.—(AP.)—His arms outstretched and his eyes fixed on some object he alone can see, the Holtzer Stalecrow Man is standing rigid and apparently lifeless in a room at Colorado Psychopathic Hospital.

The man, found last Sunday in a cornfield near Holtzer, Col., has relaxed to sleep once or twice, but has taken virtually no food, doctors said. He stands rigid with arms outstretched as if he were posing as a scarecrow. The rise and fall of his chest as he breathes is his only indication of life.

Hundreds of persons have visited the hospital, but none has succeeded in identifying him.

Hospital attaches said he seems to be suffering from a combination of amnesia and aphasia.

LAWYERS CLASH OVER CAPONE LETTER

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Al Capone, the most powerful racketeer to emerge during the prohibition era in America, sat in Federal Court here today, while testimony by the United States government for income tax violations and his counsel's arguments and other legal maneuvers in connection of a petition filed by Capone through his attorneys, dragged on an interminable pace.

The petition was filed by Capone in an effort to have the four years ending 1929 [illegible]

For three days the battery of lawyers [illegible] the introduction of a letter, communication, [illegible] to have it ruled inadmissible as evidence. The first witness [illegible] George G. Slentz, [illegible] of attorney [illegible] Internal Revenue Bureau at Washington, took the stand. On cross-examination immediately raised to the introduction of the letter and the ruling was asked [illegible] attorneys debated the issue before Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The letter was written September 26, 1930, by Lyman P. Mattingly, a Washington, D. C., attorney, whom Capone had employed to straighten out his income tax difficulties with the government.

In the letter the statement is made that Mr. Capone has never filed an income tax return"—a statement regarded as vital by the lawyers for the government. In the letter likewise Capone was described as being eager to make adjustments with the government on its full liabilities.

Mattingly was quoted as saying that Capone's income was considerably below the $1,038,654 figure at which the government has placed it for a six-year period.

Until 1925, Mattingly was said to have told government agents, Capone was a mere $75 a week employe of Johnny Torrio, the ex-ruler of Chicago's rackets. As for his income since then Capone had no way of figuring it, his attorney said, but the gangster offered as a basis for tax purpose the following: $26,000 in 1926, $40,000 in 1927, $100,000 in 1928 and $100,000 in 1929.

At present the manuscript lies in a bank vault at Normal, Ill., Miss Fell's former home.

The autobiography was written in December, 1859, to Judge Jesse Fell, Miss Fell's father, when Judge Fell had in mind the possibility Lincoln might become a presidential candidate. Judge Fell and Lincoln shared law offices in Springfield, Ill.

His parents were "of undistinguished, second families, perhaps I should say," Lincoln wrote in the autobiography, a photostatic copy of which Miss Fell had here.

Lincoln commented on the handicaps of his boyhood schooling and added that "the little advance I now have upon this store of education I have picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity."

However, with the abandonment of daylight saving time in favor of standard, the program does not go on the air until 10 p. m., central standard time, 45 minutes after the radio must be shut off by prison rules.

WILKINS, WIFE ARRIVE IN N. Y. ON LINER

By HERMAN GIESKE
(United News Staff)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Three submerged mountain ranges were discovered in the Arctic seas by scientists in the submarine Nautilus, Sir Hubert Wilkins revealed on arriving in America today.

Accompanied by Lady Wilkins, Sir Hubert arrived on the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, looking pale and hearty, but confessing that some of the submarine's grime is permanently embedded in pores of his skin.

The mountains, whose valleys were 2,000 fathoms deep with peaks only 400 to 600 fathoms below the surface, were a profound surprise to the five scientists aboard the Nautilus, Sir Hubert said.

CHARTS MADE

They were able to make a partial chart of all three ranges, which ran from a point off Spitzbergen toward Greenland. Other explorers and scientists hitherto imagined that the North Polar basin had a fairly even saucer-shaped contour.

Sir Hubert declared he entertained no hopes of finding any data of high value had been gathered by the expedition. He said:

"We were able to get specimens of the strata at the bottom of the Arctic Ocean.

"The temperature readings were likewise quite amazing. We found a cold layer of water on top of the Arctic Sea, then a warm layer, which was water from the Atlantic, then another cold layer, and finally near the bottom a second warm layer, evidently heated by the earth.

"Our experience has proved that a submarine can operate in Arctic waters and under the ice. It can operate not blindly, of course, subject to extreme disadvantages, but under complete control and in light conditions through which it is possible to see at least 70 yards ahead."

No Hubert's plans for the immediate future are indefinite, but he said it is probable next winter he will go on the lecture platform.

Mrs. Pinchot Likes Brightest Hues In Garden

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—(AP.)—No formal gardens for Mrs. Pinchot. She will have hers a riot of color, she told the State Federation of Garden Clubs here, declaring:

"It's called vulgar, I know, but in my flower garden I like to have all the colors of the rainbow—except yellow."

1 HURT FIGHTING PLANT BLAZE

A fireman was injured and several others narrowly escaped injury early today when a two-alarm fire swept the blacksmith shop and storage rooms of the Pittsburgh Engineering Works, Thirty-third street and the Allegheny River.

The fireman injured is Joseph Gilmore, of Engine Company No. 6. He suffered back lacerations when a fragment of pipe fell on him.

Two explosions occurred as the flames reached acetylene tanks and barrels of tempering oil that were housed in the structure. Windows in the district were shattered.

The fire started in the washroom and worked rapidly through the building to the frame roof.

Downtown firemen were called to Allendorf's Restaurant at 25 Grame street early today to extinguish a small blaze in the first floor of the restaurant. A broken gas line is believed to have become ignited, causing about $10 damage, according to Battalion Chief W. M. Graves.

Armstrong Concedes McGovern Victory

ment of alleged phantom voters as well as fraud-suspected election boards would be recommended for indictment.

Tomorrow's presentment will wind up the September grand jury's activities. Any election fraud evidence unearthed later will be considered by the October grand jury.

A pall of gloom descended on the County Commissioners' office today as close associates of Joseph G. Armstrong declared that even with all disputed districts counted C. C. McGovern had defeated Armstrong for one of the Republican commissionership candidacies. Hundreds are listed to lose their jobs under the prospective change of administration.

M'GOVERN VICTORIOUS

McGovern was assured of the second Republican nomination for Commissioner last night when Judges George V. Moore and Elder W. Marshall, of the Return Board, threw out the vote of the First District, Forward Township, because of evident fraud. This district gave Armstrong 588 against 66 for McGovern.

With only four districts remaining to be tabulated, McGovern's official lead over Armstrong was 1,854.

The complete reorganization of the Registration Commission, with the possibility that Chairman John K. Morrow and Commissioner E. Lowry Humes would be let out, was heralded today with the announcement that Connors, chief investigator, had been removed.

Connors, the board stated, was let out as of September 15. The removals are considered to be due in part to the strange political alignments of the recent elections.

HEARINGS HELD

Commissioner Thomas Joyce last night held hearings of 75 voters in the Third Ward, during which, it was alleged, many voters admitted they used tax receipts left in the "mail box" or purchased for them by other than themselves.

Connors formerly was homicide lieutenant, but was removed by Mayor Charles H. Kline. Shortly after Connors aligned himself with James F. Malone, candidate for Mayor, and charged at the time that 40,000 phantoms were listed on the Registration Commission's books.

When the Registration Commission fell into the hands of Pinchot forces, Connors, through Malone, was named chief investigator. He caused to be stricken off the lists 7,500 names of alleged "phantoms," which were later placed back on through a court order of Judge James F. Macfarlane.

Some department heads who have held sinecures under the Armstrong-Babcock regime were cleaning out their desks today, as one facetiously remarked:

"So I will be ready for the exodus when the new board takes office. There is no use of us kidding each other, the old man (Armstrong) is o-u-t."

Basing their predictions on what happened to the Registration Commission where Malone-McGovern appointees replaced all but one clerk and one of the four Commissioners after Gov. Pinchot took office, those who have basked in the reflected glory of the Armstrong administration were speculating yesterday on whether or not they could get commissions in the army of the unemployed.

TO ANNOUNCE RESULT

All that is necessary for the official finis to be written to the career of the man who directed the expenditure of $100,000,000 of public moneys during his eight-year administration is for the Returning Board to announce its result. This will probably be done shortly after noon.

The "sword of Damocles" is hanging over a good many well-known figures in the Courthouse, in the opinion of one literary-minded observer, who recalled that when McGovern sat in the Board of Commissioners for its first meeting four years ago the first resolution he submitted was for the dismissal of Chief Clerk William H. Ziefel, Assistant Chief Clerk James E. Routley and Gilbert C. Cloonan, head of the Bureau of Statistics and the Elections Bureau.

BOARD MAY BE OUSTED

The Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes will probably be removed in its entirety. Its chairman, George J. Schad, has been "conspicuous by his absence" from his office ever since the primary election. Its secretary, Charles J. McBride, will leave for Florida within a few weeks. The other five members, time after time have been charged by McGovern with being "political pigeons, who never attended a meeting and don't have anything to do with the board."

The battle for the minority commissionership now lies between former State Senator C. M. Barr, on the "Square Deal" and "Independent" tickets with McGovern, and David L. Lawrence, Democratic nominee.

With the official returns in and the primary election out of the way, political observers are perching themselves in safe points of vantage to watch the scramble for the McGovern-Barr bandwagon.

Decision on Wilmerding Votes Due Today

Decision on the petition to throw out the ballots cast in the Fourth District, Wilmerding, was expected to be rendered today by the primary election return board, which last night ruled out the returns from the First District, Forward Township, this action boosting County Commissioner McGovern's lead.

Comparison of the unofficial with the official vote in 929 districts shows:

Official—

Mansfield	McGovern	Coyne	Armstrong

Unofficial—

Mansfield	McGovern	Coyne	Armstrong
187,018	143,541	137,899	141,733

Elimination of the Wilmerding ballots would cost the four commissioner candidates the following unofficial votes: Mansfield 5, McGovern 2, Coyne 730, and Armstrong 728. McGovern would gain 726 votes.

Recount Board's Work To Be Completed Today

The Recount Board, with ballots from nine districts to certify and re-tabulate, will complete its work today after 14 days spent in recounting ballots from 72 city and county districts where results in the County Commissioner, Judge, Aldermanic and Constable fights were questioned.

When the certification branch of the board stopped work at its third night session last night, recounts from 61 districts had been certified, according to Supervisors James Murdock and Walter West, who had charge of the work under direction of Judge James R. Macfarlane.

Constables today were seeking 35 persons named in informations filed by the Registration Commission before Alderman Sol Goldstein, of the Fourteenth Ward, charging fraudulent registrations. The informations followed an investigation by the commission's workers.

13 Bridge Players Put Over Finesse On 3 Robbers

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(AP.)—When the three robbers who visited Mrs. Anna Jason's bridge party yesterday read about the finesse that was worked against them, they are apt to be somewhat peeved.

One stood guard over the 13 women while his companions made a futile search of the other rooms of the house for jewelry. During their absence, the women furtively slipped off their jeweled rings and concealed them in the folds of their dresses.

When the three were together again in the bridge room they gave an order for the women to raise their hands.

16 Bombing Planes, New Type Ordered

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8.—(AP.)—A contract for construction of 16 new type diving bombers has been awarded to the Glen L. Martin Company here by the Navy Department, a statement from Charles A. Van Dusen, vice president, today said.

The new type bombing plane, designed to deliver a 1,000-pound bomb from a vertical dive, was developed by engineers of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy Department and the Martin company.

Wear Weave Coats

RICHLY FURRED!*

It is quality and quantity of fur that puts a coat in the "fine" class, this season, and these coats have both, to a degree far in excess of their price. And this is not an arbitrary estimate, but one that will be shared by women who get their hands on the collars of these coats and discover the facts for themselves. They will find that the pelts are supple, instead of stiff and heavy; that they are all fully furred; and that the collars are made of full-size pelts, sleek and smooth, instead of being marred by numerous seamings . . . Further, they'll like the way the colors of the furs harmonize with the tweeds—brown furs on brown and tan tweeds, gray on gray-toned and black-and-white tweeds, and black on black tweeds with a flecking of white.

By all this praise of the furs, we do not mean to minimize the quality of the tweeds, which are grand, too, and include some of the famous Forstmann weaves.

Two Hurt Fighting Sharpsburg Blaze

Two firemen were cut by flying glass while fighting flames which destroyed a frame storage house in the rear of the North Canal Street Garage, 1109 North Canal street, Sharpsburg, early today. The blaze, of undetermined origin, did damage estimated at $3,000. The injured men, Joseph Arture and John Rice, were treated by a nearby doctor.

HINT FOUL PLAY IN DEATH

A post mortem examination was to be made today by deputy coroners investigating the death of Cesara Tastra, 31, of Greenfield, who was found dead at the bottom of a 30-foot hillside near mine No. 2 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation at Grove Station, Baldwin Township. The body was found last midnight by two miners.

Deputy Coroner Robert Newman, who investigated the case, stated early today that there is a probability that Tastra was a victim of thugs. Examination of the body revealed a severe cut over the right eye and deep lacerations on the head and hands.

The miners who found the body told Deputy Newman that Tastra had been at the mine yesterday searching for work. County Detectives this morning will receive a report of the post mortem examination and if there is any evidence of foul play will seek to trace Tastra's movements.

"The redeeming forces of life are spiritual. The present economic distress will eventually benefit mankind, for it will extend the dominion of spiritual ideas."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

3 DIE AS GANG WARS FLARE

been horribly beaten about the face and stabbed in the abdomen.

There was no sign of a struggle near where the body was found and beyond the finding of an unfired 38-calibre bullet and a 10-cent piece no clues were discovered which might lead to solution of the mystery—the one hundred and third gang killing in Allegheny County in 70 months.

Fresh footprints and marks of automobile tires in the soft earth in the hollow indicated that the man had been slain elsewhere and brought to the lonely spot where the body was set afire.

LINK SEEN IN DEATHS

Belief that the burned victim may have been a partner of Palmere was expressed by Lieut. Frank Ferris, of homicide detectives, investigating the killing of the latter. Known as "Toto," Palmere's partner has been hunted since the crime.

Ferris said the killing of Palmere, which he attributed to a desire to wrest Palmere's territory from him, was the work of New York gangsters. He said the man who fired the shots which brought down the racketeer is known and his arrest a matter of hours.

Youngstown authorities said they believed the Aliquippa victim had been taken "for a ride," beaten and stabbed and then hurled from the speeding machine into a roadside ditch. He had been dead several hours, a coroner's examination revealed.

FOUR MEN GRILLED

Four men were being questioned by Pittsburgh homicide detectives today in an effort to throw light on the slaying of Palmere. One, Vincenzo Marchetta, 36, of 801 Wylie avenue, talked with Palmere in Wylie avenue when he was shot down. The others, Pete Napoleon, 25, of 613 Southern avenue; Nick Raimando, of 711 Wylie avenue, and Fred De Luca, 29, of 2022 Pioneer avenue, were arrested in a police raid at 1320 Locust street described as Palmere's warehouse. All were held for the Coroner as witnesses by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today.

The death threat that had been worrying Palmere for days materialized early last night when a trigger man dropped him with two shots from a revolver at close range, as the victim was conversing with a friend in front of a Wylie avenue grocery.

Four-figured deposits were found in his bank book. Detectives learned he was not the "gentleman barber" which he represented himself to be at his room, 2022 Pioneer avenue, Brookline. A brief investigation revealed that Palmere was engaged in the yeast and sugar game, a racket which Morris Curran and Joseph Siragusa, recently slain in gang warfare, were also king pins.

Many theories presented themselves. Of these, the one that interested police most was the one linking the death with the killing of Siragusa three weeks ago, in his home, 2323 Beechwood boulevard, and Curran, who was found shot to death in Perrysville avenue several months ago.

The connecting link was the address, 241 Cedarville street, found on Palmere's driver's license. This address was the Empire Yeast Company, owned by Siragusa.

LAID TO SAME GANG

The theory of police is that Palmere was killed by the same gang that murdered Siragusa, or that Palmere was killed because of his part in Siragusa's death.

Another theory is that Palmere was cutting in on his competitors' trade by underselling.

There were several eye-witnesses to the shooting. Palmere had alighted from his new coupe to converse with a friend, Fred Cobelli, 6011 Bethel place. Palmere was touching a match to a cigaret when a third man, walking up Wylie avenue, paused long enough to fire twice from a revolver he had whipped from his pocket.

There were two holes in Palmere's forehead when an ambulance picked him up. He was dead when he reached the Passavant Hospital. Death was sudden, physicians said.

Running, the gunman was seen to enter a house in Wylie avenue. Police surrounded it, searched it, but found nothing. They are still watching the house.

Alleged violation of a borough zoning ordinance resulted in the halting today of construction work on an apartment house at Regent square, Swissvale.

Further erection of the building was stopped by James Broadfoot, borough officer, when it was discovered yesterday that the apartment house was to be three stories instead of two as authorized by the borough secretary, Harry D. Caldwell. The reputed owner, Andrew Isles, an architect, in applying for the permit specified a two-story four-family efficiency apartment, according to Caldwell.

Regent square is classed as a residential district.

Lewis Seeks Peace In Hard Coal Strike

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Oct. 8 (AP.)—John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, came here today in an effort to settle the strike in the Glen Alden Coal Company mines, it was learned at a meeting of the district executive board.

Unheralded, Lewis walked into a session of the district executive committee's regular meeting. Meanwhile, Vice President Murray and Patrick Fagan, president of District No. 2 of the United Mine Workers, were reported en route to Wilkes Barre from Pittsburgh.

Lewis' visit to the strike area was the first since the walkout began April 1. Efforts of the district officials to settle the strike have been unsuccessful.

DRY LAW FAILS, DOCTORS TOLD BY ALIENIST

State Medical Association Speaker Says Prohibition Has Not Reduced Insanity

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 8 (AP.)—Speaking before an audience of more than 1,000 persons at a public meeting last night in connection with the Pennsylvania Medical Society convention, Dr. C. W. Burr, professor emeritus of mental diseases at the University of Pennsylvania stated that the prohibition of alcohol by law has not reduced the percentage of insanity by one jot or tittle." He added:

Dr. Burr had as his subject "The Importance of Mental Diseases in Modern Life." He discussed at length the parts which the home and school can play in the prevention of mental disorders and turned to the question of the role of the medical profession in wiping out the diseases which leave mental wreckage in their wake. He said:

"As for the question of the prohibition of alcohol, I'm afraid to offer an opinion. I'm not afraid to speak, but I'm afraid to form an opinion in my own mind. The evils of our present prohibition laws have been so gigantic—in their by-products and results—that I do not believe that the amount of good being done in saving a small number from alcoholic dementia is anything nearly as important as the evils of the consequences of these laws."

He scoffed at reports that college boys are organizing, adding:

"The healthy college boy gets drunk only once—in his freshman year—and he never wants to after that. But the boy who would drink, if he can't have alcohol will have some corresponding drug."

He asserted that "artificial obstacles" failed to help the youngsters, He asserted:

"All laws concerning what a man puts in his mouth or what he puts on his back—all sumptuary laws—have always failed."

Entering on the final day of their eighty-first annual convention here, delegates of the medical society faced over a dozen group conferences in addition to the general session that will close the gathering.

President W. H. Mayer of Pittsburgh officially announced the new officers who will be installed at the 1932 convention in Pittsburgh. In addition to the president-elect Dr. Charles Palkowsky Jr. of Scranton they include: Dr. Leonard Reddan, Scranton, first vice president; Dr. P. J. S. Callihan, Shenandoah, second vice president; Dr. Frank Lorenzo Punkostawney, third vice president; Dr. Samuel Logan Ridgeway, fourth vice president; Dr. Walter F. Donaldson, Pittsburgh, was re-elected secretary, and Dr. Henry Munson, Philadelphia, assistant secretary. Dr. John B. Lowman, Johnstown, will continue as treasurer.

OFFENSIVE TO OTHERS —Your dirty handkerchief

KLEENEX

Disposable Tissues

YOU can't blame others for avoiding you when you use a dirty handkerchief.

It is not only repulsive to look at. It's an actual source of danger, to those about you as well as to yourself.

Scientific tests show a single use may pour 240,000 germs into a handkerchief! Remember, that's a handkerchief that's been used only once. Think what it must contain after you've carried it all day long!

No danger with Kleenex

Kleenex ends forever the menace of the handkerchief. Kleenex is a handkerchief tissue, so inexpensive that you use it only once and then destroy! No soiled handkerchief goes back to your face to self-infect. No germs are stored away in clothes and laundry bag.

And think of the wonderful convenience! No laundering—and every woman who's ever washed a dirty handkerchief knows what that means.

Kleenex is made from finest rayon-cellulose, a marvelous substance, more absorbent, far softer than linen. Its downy texture cannot possibly irritate; and so Kleenex is a great comfort, especially during colds.

Try Kleenex in other ways

Try Kleenex for polishing spectacles. For manicuring. For applying medicines and bandaging minor wounds. Keep a package handy in the kitchen, bath and bedroom. Also in the car.

For removing face creams, Kleenex has no equal. Its absorbency is necessary to blot all dirt and make-up from the pores. Kleenex is sold at all drug, dry goods and department stores.

Pitt Mine School Enrollment Up

An increase in the number of upper class students in petroleum engineering of the University of Pittsburgh school of mines is reported this year, according to Elmer A. Holbrook, dean of the school. YOUNG THUGS, SLASHED

Fighting two thugs who sought to rob him in East Park near Union avenue, North Side early today, Thomas Flaherty, 49, of 319 Lawn street, was slashed on the face and chest with a razor wielded by one of the highwaymen. He made his way to the Allegheny General Hospital, a block away.

Flaherty told police from the North Side station that he was stopped by the two men who searched his clothing. He stated that he struck one of the thugs and in return was slashed with a razor. He told police that he did not have any money and that the pair fled.

...sparkling vitality and a clear skin reflect rich, red blood cells

"IT is good of you to say those nice things," she replied.

Some people just "bubble over" with vitality . . . they inspire compliments.

Nature has its own way of making a strong body and a clear skin . . . by its use of the red-blood-cells.

So often the pressure of work and worry or some sickness "burn up" these precious red-blood-cells—then the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . to are pimples, boils and paleness.

A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease. A lagging appetite often leads to underweight and ill health in various manifestations.

You cannot be low in strength and be happy—let's be happy.

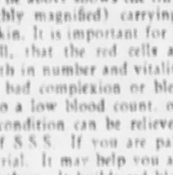
For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

Enriches the Blood

Why you should be interested in your Blood Count

The above shows the tiny blood vessels (highly magnified) carrying nourishment to the skin. It is important for body and skin health, as well, that the red cells are up to full fighting strength in number and vitality.

Whenever bad complexion or blemishes on the skin are due to a low blood count, or to a lagging appetite, the condition can be relieved or benefited by a course of S.S.S. If you are pale, or languid, give S.S.S. a trial. It may help you as it has helped thousands of others. It builds red blood cells. It is a splendid tonic.



(Upper) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Lower) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

Don't let them count you out!

You should know that S.S.S. has the distinct advantage of being composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form . . . it is Mother Nature's formula.

Radio Editor

NOVEL, INDEED, the idea of Dr. John R. Brinkley, "goat gland specialist," moving his transmitter into Mexico and stretching a leased wire to Milford, Kan., where he hopes to maintain his studios despite the Federal Radio Commission ruling which barred him from the air last year . . . meanwhile the commission is investigating legal aspects of his precedent of broadcasting by remote control over an independent station in a foreign country . . . Dr. Brinkley was kicked off the air because he used radio to advertise "goat gland rejuvenation operations" and to prescribe medicine for listeners . . . A few Pittsburghers have picked up his new station in Villa Acuna, Mexico, one of the most powerful on the continent . . . he has defied the Federal Radio Commission to prevent his formal opening via Milford, Kan., on Wednesday night, October 21 . . . The case is interesting because other disgruntled American broadcasters have threatened to move their transmitters to Mexico, where station owners virtually pick their own wavelength and operate on as much power as they feel like using.

Question a Day:

Here's another of those arguments you must settle daily. It's about Russ Columbo. My girl friend is cuh-razy about his voice and insists that he is related to the late movie idol, Valentino. Says she heard them say it on the air. What say you?—Bert C., Meadville, Pa.

Answer—Russ is not related to Valentino. When NBC engaged Columbo to compete with Bing Crosby at CBS, the NBC officials got highhearted and offered a prize to the employe suggesting the best appellation for their new star. We think it was James Wallington who coined the phrase "vocal Valentino" . . . and it stuck.

Studio Lights

If the world series goes seven games, the networks will pass up all football games this Saturday . . .

A new feature on CBS-WJAS tomorrow morning at 11:15 will be made up entirely of Moon songs . . . and it's sponsored by the makers of cheese . . . green cheese."

Everybody in Nat Shilkret's Orchestra had an opportunity to perform in that carnival of expression over WCAE last night, the playing of "Comin' Through the Rye"—with variations . . .

"Slanguage," in one act, written by Alfred L. Goldenberg, a Pittsburgh playwright, is to be presented Sunday night at 6:15 over KDKA by the Irene Kaufmann Settlement Players.

We anticipate the pleasure of being Sunny Weslager's guest at a ball of Pitt editors and writers in Hotel Schenley on October 16 . . . Sunny pens a subtle column, "Pitt Potpourri," for the Pitt Weekly . . .

Six special broadcasts for women have been arranged by CBS, starting Thursday morning, October 22, with Mrs. John F. Sipple, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs . . . Mary Pickford on Friday, November 5.

The series featuring Geraldine Farrar, John McCormack and other concert stars, announced yesterday as a CBS-WJAS attraction, has been shifted to NBC-WCAE . . . and the time, every Sunday at 5:30 starting October 18 . . . opera arias are to be supplanted with songs of the fireside . . .

The "Good Old Days" of the football are to be discussed by Fielding H. Yost, of Michigan; Bill Roper and Grantland Rice on NBC-KDKA Thursday night, October 29, in a special broadcast.

If Morton Downey had a second choice, he would be a politician . . . imagine!

Today's Tid Bit:

So the story goes—the other day someone at NBC asked Paul Whiteman if he was going to Venice on his European tour this winter.

"No," replied the dean of modern music, "the last time I was there the whole town was flooded."

Seth Parker Greeting

Seth Parker and his cast of Jonesport Folks will entertain tonight in Syria Mosque. Seth sends the following greeting to his local admirers:

Dear Darrell:

We sure appreciate your kind welcome to Pittsburgh and we're all set for makin' ourselves t'home.

We like Pittsburgh folks. They've always been kind to us and we remember too when they joined with us in our "Singing School" over WCAE.

I've been thinkin' a lot about what you asked me. There's lots I might say, but I guess if I was to sum up my philosophy it would be something like this:

"When a man's a real neighbor there ain't a great deal more that religion can do for him . . .

"A crop of kindness is about the only crop I know about you can sow the whole year round and reap a good harvest."

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The broadcasters have finally shoved a baton into the hands of Ferdie Grofe, added one of America's three leading exponents of the jazz idiom to their list of orchestral conductors.

For years Grofe has hidden his light under the bushel of musical arrangements for Prof. Whiteman and other leading jazzbos. He deserved a place in the radio sun if only because he has been chief doctor to hot bands. As a composer Grofe is, of course, best known for his authentic picture of the lower Mississippi. As an arranger he has contributed to countless Broadway productions. He ought to be able to bring a fresh note to the microphonic menus . . .

We may yet hear on the radio, Gov. Rolph willing, the voice of Tom Mooney from his San Quentin cell . . . The climax of all prison broadcasts will be, of course, the airing of an electrocution. Strange, the opponents of capital punishment haven't tried to arrange such a broadcast!

College songs invariably sound alike—in words as well as in music. For eight weeks now they will pour out of loudspeakers, all of them doing honor to football warriors. Never hear a college song about a baseball player. . . . McNamee continues to draw the choicest football assignments at NBC. . . . Wonder how Floyd Gibbons would be as a gridiron announcer. . . . Rain songs are creeping back to the radio.

Zippiest rain song of recent years was "Singin' in the Rain," most melodious, "A Garden in the Rain;" most remembered, because it was put over by Massa Jolson, "April Showers" . . . Jazz today may be all dressed up in high hat and spats, but it failed to storm the gates of the New Waldorf at the preview of the hotel. Conductor Rapee kept close to old-time concert traditions, played safe with "The Blue Danube" . . . A stunning victory for WOR to be elevated to high power by the Federal Radio Commission.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair
—With—
Patricia Pitt

The Columbus Day races this year are going to be bigger and better than ever before this year. Of course you know the event is scheduled for Monday afternoon, and will be held on the George R. McNary farm near Greensburg.

There'll be even so many folks from out-of-town for the affair, many of whom will be entertained at Rolling Rock over the week-end.

There are so many events on the different classes that the jumps have been simplified. The morning of the races many of the guests will join their hosts of the various hunts, all of which have fixtures scheduled.

Mrs. Alexander Yarnall of Philadelphia, C. W. Goodyear and Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Wells all of Buffalo, will be guests at Rolling Rock of the A. Rex Flints. And the Simon T. Pattersons will have as their guests Lee H. Spaulding, of Buffalo.

Invitations have been issued for a private view of the thirteenth Carnegie Institute international art exhibit to be held Wednesday evening. This night, better known as press night, always attracts leaders of the social set. The hours are from 8 to 10 o'clock. On the following day the exhibit in the art galleries of the institute will be open to the public.

Only the members of the families and a few friends attended the reception in the Eakin home.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left for New Orleans and other cities in the South.

Quality - Workmanship - Service

There are times when the purchaser of commodities should exercise the greatest discrimination. True, goods of all kinds are down in price, but do not be misled by plunder merchandise. Plunder merchandise is the kind in which quality, workmanship, service and satisfaction have been sacrificed to create fictitious bargains. Honest, sincere, decently-made goods still have value.

Heirlooms That Survive

Look at the heirlooms in your family. Only the well-made, the worthy, the good have survived. And so it is today—the heirlooms of tomorrow are the best of today. Rose Marie Foundations

Help You to Wear New Fashions As They Should Be Worn

Much of the success of the new fashions, with their luxuriously regal air, their feminine grace and charm, depends upon the figures over which they are worn. Waistlines must be nipped in a bit . . . hiplines must be long and smooth—but above all, there must be no bulges!

The new Rose Marie compacts, with detachable brassieres (so easy to launder separately)—with intricately designed waistlines, and extra panels to provide perfect diaphragm control—will secure for average and fuller figures the lovely silhouette that is the basis of the prevailing fashions.

Rose Marie compacts are designed of silk brocade, with knitted or French web elastics, with swami, lace or glove silk brassiere tops.

Priced from $8.50 to $15.

DESIGNER PRESENTS LATEST MODE IN EVENING ENSEMBLES

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 8. Now and again one comes across a frock or ensemble that has borrowed generously from another sartorial era with marked success. The woman who enjoys quaint or picturesque clothes should be in her element this season with all the talk about period dresses and the designers making obeisance in the direction of two such different royal personages as the scintillating Eugenie and the dignified, extremely correct Victoria. In fact, many dresses seem to have borrowed more from the mid and late Victorian era than from the sixties when Eugenie was in her zenith. It is remarkable how designers can take the really ugly fashions of the nineties and invest them with grace, chic and charm. Perhaps it is because the clothes are built on natural lines and figures, and are made of such supple fabrics with an under-layer of linings and heavy lingerie that the effect is so very different.

THOSE OF THE readers of this page who are interested in period designs will, we are sure, take more than a passing glance at the ensemble here depicted which is by Schiaparelli. It is quite obviously of late nineteenth century inspiration. The sleeves of the ruby velvet jacket are surely good old leg-o-mutton and the big bow is likewise of the same vintage as the sleeve. Very crinkly rough crepe in oyster white makes the simple frock with its fitted hipline and deep side folds in the skirt. The deep decolletage of the plain bodice is covered by the snug little jacket which is cut in a square line at the back to introduce the huge bow and trailing ends of the matching velvet sash.

Teeth Whiten 3 Shades in 3 Days!

NOBODY likes to look at teeth that are dull, dingy, yellow, discolored or eaten away by decay. And now there's no reason why you should have such teeth. They're unnatural. And the new scientific Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique proves they're unnatural—by removing stain and yellow, and making teeth gleaming white.

Try this technique for a few days . . . . A half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. You'll note an improvement after the first brushing. Your mouth will feel cleaner than ever. And in just 3 days teeth will look whiter—fully 3 shades whiter. Gums will feel firmer and look healthier. All because Kolynos does what no ordinary toothpaste can do—it kills the millions of germs that cause most teeth and gum troubles. And cleans teeth as they should be cleaned. RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL, NAKED WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY.

Kolynos is unique—unlike anything you've ever used. The very moment it enters the mouth it FOAMS, thus permitting the use of a dry brush which makes Kolynos 10 times more effective.

This penetrating FOAM gets into and cleans out every tiny pit, fissure and crevice. It erases tartar and yellow—washes away the unsightly mucoid coating. It kills the millions of germs that swarm into the mouth with every breath and attack teeth and gums—kills 100 million in the first 15 seconds.

Easily and quickly this remarkable Kolynos FOAM cleans teeth gleaming white and keeps them sound. It stimulates gums and keeps the breath sweet and fresh.

If you really want sound, dazzling white teeth and firm, coral-pink gums, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. Buy a tube of Kolynos from any druggist.

Coal Operators Here Spurn Output Cut

FORMER DRIVER BEATEN IN TAXI WAR

PRICE CONTROL SEEN AS COAL REMEDY

Anti-Trust Laws Block Way to Recovery Officers Hold; Competition Scored

Leading Pittsburgh coal operators are not likely to attend any conferences aiming to restrict coal production, on the ground that price and not restricted production, is the real remedy to aid the industry, it was learned today.

So many plans are being formulated in various states that R. Templeton Smith, of the Poland Coal Company, chairman of the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau, remarked today the situation is somewhat unsettled.

OPERATORS AT ODDS

Various operators hold different views, admitting, however, that if the coal industry is to prosper, the first thing necessary to stimulate it is a higher price. It is declared restricted production will not bring that.

If a price above fixed charges could be agreed upon or obtained, operators declare, higher wages would be paid to miners.

Operators who declined to speak for publication said if any attempt were made to control prices, the Sherman anti-trust law would only invite trouble and they do not see what good conferences will accomplish, unless sufficient pressure can be mustered to bring about proper amendments to the law.

U. S. MAKING SURVEY

The United States Bureau of Mines is at present engaged in making a survey of the coal above ground. It is believed this statement will reveal less coal stored now than three months ago, when the last quarterly survey was made. This showed less coal in stock than any time since the World War.

Modification of the federal anti-trust laws to permit operators to set prices for their product, is said to be one way out of existing difficulties. West Virginia operators are working on that plan, this being one of the points made by Gov. W. G. Conley, of West Virginia, in addressing the conference of West Virginia operators this week.

This subject is to be discussed at a meeting of operators of the National Coal Association to be held in New York, October 21.

UNFAIR METHODS

Competition is reported keen and some unfair methods are being used by coal companies, it is said, outside of Pennsylvania, with which the Pittsburgh operators must compete. Coal prices for carload lots range from 40 cents to $2 a ton. In the Pocahontas field, it was stated here, coal was quoted as low as 15 cents a ton recently. Eventually, operators believe, something good may come out of the present agitation for stabilization of the industry.

COUNTY ORDERS WABASH TUBE BONDS SOLD

$300,000 More Voted for Airport Over Objections Offered by McGovern

The County Commissioners today unanimously authorized the sale of $4,200,000 bonds for the projected Wabash tunnel and bridge, and after some debate voted over C. C. McGovern's objections an additional $300,000 for the county airport.

Joseph G. Armstrong, moving that the $300,000 be placed at the disposal of the airport fund, did so after McGovern suggested that it be placed in a road fund to be used throughout the county. McGovern said:

"At this stage of the game this airport should not get everything in the basket and embarass the new administration. The airport already has cost over $4,000,000, and I think this additional sum should be put, with $200,000, in the road fund."

Armstrong and E. V. Babcock voted it for the airport, but the move that the $200,000 be placed in the road fund passed unanimously. Babcock suggested that the airport sum provide work in three-day-a-week shifts.

AUTO BURNED IN STRIKE CLASH

Victim Found on Street After Attack by Gang; Skull Believed Fractured

A former taxicab driver was beaten unconscious and the automobile of a union driver was set on fire in disorder between union and nonunion drivers early today. The attack on the former driver occurred in Soho, while the burning of the automobile occurred on the North Side.

Alex Keller, 33, of 71 West Francis street, Brentwood, was picked up at Fifth avenue and Magee street in an unconscious condition early today after he had been attacked by several men, who fled in an automobile. He is in the Mercy Hospital suffering a fractured skull. Police say that he was alone on the corner when the automobile containing the men who attacked him drove past. The word "scab" was called and the fight resulted.

An automobile owned by A. S. Maison, a union cab driver, was burned early today as it was parked in front of his home at 334 West North avenue. The machine was being used as a union cab by its owner. Maison reported to police that several men drove up in another automobile, poured gasoline into his car and set it on fire. Damage was estimated at $300.

CITY HOSPITAL PLAN DROPPED

No effort will be made this year to purchase the Home of the Good Shepherd, Lincoln avenue, for a hospital, Council decided yesterday following a hearing granted the Lincoln District Board of Trade.

The Board complained acquisition of the home for treating social diseases would result in depreciation of property values in the Lincoln district and asked Council to prevent its purchase.

Both the city Health and Welfare Departments favored the purchase of the hospital.

AID PROGRAM LAUNCHED

The first step toward putting into operation an extensive program of relief for unemployed of New Kensington, was started today when general relief headquarters was opened at the Salvation Army Center. Establishment of the system was effected yesterday after an all-day session between committees appointed by Council and the unemployed.

A demonstration was staged at a Council meeting Tuesday night. More than 2,000 unemployed paraded to the meeting of Council and demanded weekly doles, free rent, gas and clothing. Leaders of the unemployed were told their demands could not be met but that the officials would take steps to bring about relief.

At yesterday's meeting were several councilmen, representatives of the Community Welfare Council, and the Red Cross and Salvation Army. Under the new plan those seeking aid will register. The registrations will be turned over to police to be investigated before relief is granted.

RATE CASE BARS CARGO RULE

No decision in the lake cargo freight rate case on coal is expected until the Interstate Commerce Commission disposes of the request of the railroads for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates, R. Templeton Smith, chairman of the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau, said today.

Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania operators have renewed their request for a differential of 85 cents a ton on coal, instead of 35 cents, the present differential. Pittsburgh pays $1.46 a ton for moving coal 172 miles to the lakes while the southern coal shippers pay $1.81 for an average haul of 391 miles.

In other words, southern operators are permitted to haul coal an additional 219 miles for 35 cents a ton, greatly handicapping the business of this territory. Pittsburgh operators do not expect a decision until after the first of the year.

2 HELD IN THEFT OF SUITCASE

A half hour after Joseph Oraskvic, 35, of Syracuse, N. Y., had reported to police that two Negroes had stolen his suitcase from a bus station at Tenth street and Liberty avenue, police arrested Joseph Bethel, 42, of 15 Tannehill street, and Ray Blair, 43, of Winchester, Ky., Negroes, in Wylie avenue at Elm street.

Oraskvic identified them. The prisoners at first denied the theft, but later admitted they had walked off with the suitcase, and took police to a yard in the Hill district where it had been hidden. It was recovered.

GIRL BEATEN, 2 MEN ARRESTED

Seized by two men, Miss Ethel House, 24, of 123 West Ohio street, North Side, early today fought off the pair, who fled when a motorist came to her aid. The motorist took her to the North Side police station where she reported the attack, which had occurred in West Ohio street, near Arch street.

Police later arrested two men, who, they said, were pointed out by Miss House as the men who had seized and struck her. The prisoners said they were Robert Hartman, 33, of 2212 St. Luke's square, and Thomas Burns, 28, of 112 West Stockton avenue.

ROWER MISSES KLINE

Carl Kuechler, 26, of the Cincinnati Rowing Association, who arrived in Pittsburgh Sunday, started back on his 468-mile return row to Cincinnati yesterday afternoon. He expects to win a cup offered by the rowing association to anyone making the trip in 40 days.

Kuechler found the people of Pittsburgh very hospitable but regretted that he could not meet Mayor Kline. He said:

"The people of Pittsburgh were fine to me. My only regret was that I could not meet Mayor Kline. I had a letter from Mayor William Russell, of Cincinnati to him but had to give it to his secretary. It seems like he is the hardest fellow to find in eight states.

"Another thing that seems strange to me is with the ideal water condition and schools they have in Pittsburgh there are no crews or rowing clubs of any kind."

Now We'll Make Snowballs Out of Frozen Wealth

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Washington has finally hopped off those door knobs and has hatched an egg.

That five billion prosperity fund will drive the wolf away from the spare tire. We're going to make our frozen wealth into snowballs and throw them at each other.

All the banks will have plenty of golden gravy. Now, we need another plan to smart us up how to get some of it.

Even the Democrats agreed to this plan. They were surrounded at the time.

The visit to the White House was quite a trip for the 14 Democrats. Some of the boys have always wondered how the place looked.

It's protection for the bank depositor and the home-owner and also means that we won't have to park double in the breadline this winter.

And the most hopeful ingredient in the whole thing is that the law of averages calls for this plan to work.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

EL PASO, TEX., Oct. 8.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

News can travel when it's of real interest to the people among whom it travels. I hadn't heard a thing for eight days. No world series; no word from Al Capone; didn't know Wall street had shook the small klinkers out. Another conference had been held, but the only real thing of importance that had happened in the eight days was Dwight Morrow's death, and I heard that in the heart of Mexico (and from the heart of Mexico). I am sorry Mr. Hoover is too busy to attend the funeral. This fellow Morrow was quite a fellow. Yours, WILL.

Councilmen Deny Wharf Parking Is Competition

Parking garage owners today had a denial from City Council that efforts were being made to compete with them by providing municipal parking facilities at the Monongahela and Allegheny River wharves.

At a hearing yesterday representatives of Pittsburgh Parking Garages, McCann & Company and William Penn Garage charged the city was working a hardship on the garages.

Attorney Lee Beatty, representing the parking interests, informed the Councilmen his clients were of the opinion it was planned to build modern garages on the wharf sites.

President of Council John S. Herron, chairman of the committee, said this idea was erroneous. The city charges 10 cents for parking at the wharves. Private garages collect 50 cents.

Asked why the city did not afford protection to cars parked on the wharves, Herron replied:

"In every garage I ever placed my car the first sign that confronts me was 'Not Responsible for Loss by Fire or Theft.'"

Herron was told the signs "meant nothing" and that the garages were responsible.

The garage men were informed there was no intent to compete with business interests and that no large improvement program was contemplated at the wharves. An effort will be made, Herron said, to beautify the wharf near Smithfield street.

HOPE FOR SHIP FLIERS ENDS

PARRSBORO, N. S., Oct. 8 (AP).—A broken pontoon, bits of a smashed wing, a customs manifest and two sodden passengers' tickets found in Cooegan Bay last night practically established the fate of Fritz Simon and Rudolph Koepenknecht, Bremen ship-to-shore fliers.

It was Dr. Leigh Leigh with C. B. McGowan in the seaplane Pathfinder who first found traces of the small plane which crashed off economy Point Tuesday morning. In his opinion the German fliers, who had been entrusted with the task of flying the mail from the steel Bremen at sea to New York, met death after trying to make a landing, he said.

Accident 'Germs' Sought in Human Mind by Medics

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP).—Medical science has joined the nation's professional exponents of safety in a search for the accident germ.

Because safety men are convinced that the most dangerous machine today is the human machine, mental aspects of safety will be emphasized at the twentieth annual Safety Congress and Exposition in Chicago, October 12 to 16.

The basic causes of probably 90 per cent of all accidents, safety men contend, lies in the human mind. Leaders in medical research and psychiatry will offer their explanations of human frailties most commonly responsible for accidents.

HIGH LITERACY AVERAGE HERE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP).—Illiteracy is least prevalent in Pennsylvania's two largest cities.

Both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were reported today by the Census Bureau to have the lowest percentages of illiteracy in a group of five cities having a population in excess of 100,000 population.

The Philadelphia and Pittsburgh percentage was the same, 2.6. Pushing hard on that figure, Erie was a close second with 2.7. Reading was next with 3.2 and Scranton last with a percentage of 4.

Educational efforts resulted in decreases in the illiteracy rate of all the cities in the 10 years since the 1920 census.

Erie and Philadelphia were credited with the highest literacy rate among the native white population, 0.2 per cent. Scranton was next with .63.

One of the automobiles contained eight five-gallon cans of moonshine, another 168 pints of whisky and the third 300 pints of choice whisky, agents said. The cars are owned by patrons of the garage and had been placed in the garage early last night.

GUINAN RUSHED BY AUDIENCE

Texas Guinan, barnstorming cabaret hostess from Broadway, stormed and wisecracked at a one-night stand in Motor Square Garden last night.

Her "line" may have been good, but an audience that felt itself called upon to join into the spirit of the evening drowned her out with its own conception of Guinan abandon.

Boos and cheers followed the announcement at 8:30 that Guinan would not appear until 10:30, and after police had carefully cleared the center of the dancing floor, Guinan invited everybody "way up front" and a dozen policemen and firemen were almost trampled in the rush to the rostrum on which Guinan was pleading in vain for applause for her little girls.

The affair resolved itself into a one-act burlesque show without rules and regulations for the audience.

Child Training Called as Easy As Mules'

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Children are as easily handled as mules.

Parents who sometimes get exasperated with their offspring may jump to the conclusion that foregoing statement expresses their sentiments exactly, but if they do so they may be surprised to know that mules, in the opinion of Prof. John J. B. Morgan, of Northwestern University, are kind-hearted and considerate. He told his class in psychology:

"I have known Army sergeants who raised mules by kindness, and they grew up to be gentle. It is the same with children. The child's character can be molded at will, if the parents used a little of the right applied psychology during the child's early years."

CIVIL SERVICE HELD BAR TO BUSINESS

Banker Tells Insurance Men of U. S. Interference; Taxes Create Burden

Lack of confidence found in business throughout the country is the result of interference of government in the field of business and the casting of an immense tax burden alike upon industry and the small home owner, Lyman E. Wakefield, president of the First National Bank of Minneapolis, told the American Life Convention today at the William Penn Hotel.

TAXES HELD BAR

Taxes on real estate have risen so rapidly in recent years as to rob ownership of its security, he declared.

He said:

"To purchase a house wherein to spend one's declining years, is to incur a continuing liability to pursue you to your grave. An American's home has become prima facie evidence of an unliquidated debt to the tax collector."

Yet hope is seen, Mr. Wakefield declares, in the awakening of citizens to their responsibilities in many communities.

Voters have the power, he declared. The old theory of "To the Victor Belongs the Spoils" has at least one advantage in that it makes public office holding more or less hazardous, he asserted.

He declared that the Civil Service has been protecting corruption. In his conclusion, he declared that if the American people are given the facts they will turn back the forces of revolutionary experimentation.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Sessions of the convention continue today and tomorrow with an important report scheduled from the taxation committee. Dr. S. J. Straight addressed the medical section this morning on "The Human Element in Underwriting."

New officers elected last night in the agency section were W. W. Jaeger, of Des Moines, Ia., chairman, and James A. McLain, of New York, secretary.

New officers in the financial section are: Russell T. Byers, of Indianapolis, Ind., chairman, and John E. Reilly, of Milwaukee, secretary.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Federal Judge George Bourgin, of Butte, Mont., disagreed with two juries and told them so.

Jurors who acquitted two men of liquor violations were told:

"The United States is going to get a fair trial as well as the defendants or there will be a change in jury panel. If you were in my bailiwick you would be removed from this jury right now."

John Mack Brown Taken for 'Ride' on Back Lot Football Field

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 8.

Score up another one for Vincent Barnett, Hollywood's professional ribber.

At the behest of Douglas Fairbanks, he joined the back lot football team at United Artists and baited Johnny Mack Brown until the former all-American could scarcely contain himself.

The persecution began in Doug's team's private dressing-room before the game, for Barnett, prompt as always, ran true to form.

"Oh, I've heard about you," Barnett told Brown, "you're the professional ringer they put in at Alabama."

Johnny held his temper and even consented for Barnett to play center on his team. After that every time Johnny carried the ball Vince would roll it to him on the ground or toss it at Mr. Brown almost over his head.

Presently Barnett inquired:

"Are you sure you're Brown of Alabama? You're not Brown of Harvard are you?"

It was about this time that Johnny hissed to one of the players:

"You've never played football before," he said.

"Yeah," snapped Johnny, "well if you know so much, you pack the ball."

Whereupon Barnett, with both hands, gave Johnny a shove that sent him sprawling.

There," he said contemptuously, "that's the way it should be done."

I wish the game ended about that time. You should have seen Johnny's face when Barnett introduced himself.

STILL MORE GOSSIP

Some more gossip, but I understand Clark Gilbert and Lupe Velez have been that way of late. Lupe may go to Europe after all. . . . Paul Bern, husband of Jean Harlow, gave Norma Talmadge a diamond bracelet for her birthday. . . . Yesterday was Carole Lombard's birthday. Her husband, Bill Powell, gave her an antique bed, an antique bureau and a china set. . . . Hollywood's latest honeymooners, Lew Ayres and Lola Lane, are back in town. They are fixing up Lew's hillside home. . . . Jimmy Durante's new song is "What's Become of the Girl That Upset Me Six Years Ago?" . . . Renee Adoree is making a steady gain in health. Doctors estimate she will be all right again in eight months. . . . Bebe Daniels is back home from the hospital.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

So Mr. Gibbs in The New Yorker says that the Prince of Wales became the Prince of Wales when Queen Victoria died? . . . Well, he didn't. . . . His pappy became the P. of W. . . . Sure. Those cabs that feature those moving miniature advertisements are always well-lighted. . . . Try and make the cab light work over your head when you want to read a newspaper. . . . Wonder if it is true that one of the major life insurance firms will take over one of the skyscrapers in a fortnight or so? . . . I like that title for the forthcoming show—When The Bough Breaks. . . . Pretty. . . . When college profs get publicity mad, it is something to think about. . . . That professor's gag about whistlers being morons is really more proof that even the best newspapers and news services are suckers for free space. . . . Exactly a year ago that professor sent out his now famous crack, but it was completely ignored. . . . So, the other day, when looking over his scrapbooks and files in the N. Y. U. publicity department, he discovered the old and unused idiotic statement. . . . So he gave it another try—and the rest is history. . . . Huh.

Most interesting that wordless scene in Reuben's the other evening. . . . I mean when that chap whose rich wife killed herself sometime ago sat in a booth and watched a brother-in-law go gay with a chorus girl. . . . Wonder what he thought? . . . His wife had killed herself because her rich parents were opposed to him—and kept them apart. . . . She was so miserable she jumped out of a window. . . . The widower recently brought suit against her father for alienating his wife's affections. . . . When the papers were served it so shocked the millionaire he dropped dead! . . . All this misery because of a prejudice. . . . So there he sat in the restaurant and across the way sat his brother-in-law, son of the wealthy manufacturer—with a doll. . . . At least the snubbed one never did that! . . . I hope he wins his case. . . . That Lucille LaVelle dame is nh-nh. . . . She gave out the report that she would wed that special sessions chap, and he's engaged to another gal! . . . What kind of a person is that, anyhow? . . . Being kind to some people is risky.

That one about the merchant in Havana don't anything to laugh at, either. . . . The poor guy. . . . He got the concession for the Wrigley gum down there, it appears. . . . The firm gave him thousands of toy paper airplanes with the product advertised on them. . . . He did a fine business even during the rebellion recently, but something went wrong. . . . He ran out of the airplanes and cabled to Chicago for more. . . . Send more planes, he cabled. They replied: Sending 5,000 planes. . . . That day the government dispatched soldiers to his house and shop and ripped them apart searching for hidden secrets, codes, ammunition, and other things of war. . . . He was almost put up against a wall and shot for treason, too. . . . What a headache to have. . . . For that matter, things are just as tough in Chicago. . . . Holtz wires that gangsters are trying to get jobs as chorus men. . . . The curse of likker. . . . That story about Grant Clarke, who wrote so many swell songs

Sea Fliers In Hearst News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

A subject of unusual interest and timeliness is shown in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News, showing in the Penn and other theaters. It depicts Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, the first men to make a nonstop flight across the Pacific Ocean. They give an exclusive interview to Hearst Metrotone News in Tokio just as they are about to depart upon their flight from Japan to the United States. Animated maps show the course of their flight to the United States, and there is a description of the flight by the Globe Trotter.

Headlights and sidelights of the world series between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Philadelphia Athletics are pictured. There are vivid portrayals of thrilling plays in the games and of the enormous crowds on the fields at both St. Louis and Philadelphia. President Hoover is shown in Philadelphia, throwing out the first ball and shaking hands with Connie Mack.

Uncle Sam's speedy 10,000-ton cruiser, Chicago, comes into New York harbor for repairs at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. There are unusual views of the warship as she steams up East River, the skyline of Manhattan forming a striking background.

New styles in women's hats have boomed business on the ostrich farms in South Africa. Metrotone shows you how flocks of these birds are rounded up and their feathers plucked to supply the demand.

Knute Rockne's memory so imbued the football warriors of Notre Dame that they downed Indiana in their first game of the season by the lopsided score of 25 to 0, as the fighting Irish sweep over the gridiron with amazing strength.

While the whole world mourns for two famous men, former Senator Dwight W. Morrow and Sir Thomas Lipton, Hearst Metrotone News presents pictures of both, in which they are not only seen but heard discussing events, many of which are now uppermost in the public mind.

In fairness to himself, no man should attempt to select a fine motor car until he has driven a Cadillac V-16—for multi-cylinder performance has changed every single standard by which automobiles were judged in the past.

To compare the V-16 with any other car on the highway is obviously unfair—for the V-16 is an altogether different kind of automobile.

Yet, most people have never experienced anything beyond conventional fine-car performance, and cannot be expected to understand the V-16 except in terms of comparison.

To every fine-car owner in America, therefore, we say, quite frankly:

—if you have believed that other cars were smooth, you will have no words with which to describe the action of the Cadillac V-16.

—if you have believed that other motor cars were quiet, you will discover that quiet and silent are two completely different terms.

—if you have believed that other cars were responsive to the throttle, you'll wonder what to say about the Cadillac V-16.

—and, if you have believed that other cars were comfortable to ride in and easy to handle, you'll find the V-16 a revelation.

In fact, in all those things that make a car a pleasure to own and drive, you'll grant the Sixteen's leadership—we're absolutely sure.

CADILLAC V-16

There are more than thirty V-16 body types to select from—with special to-order creations to meet any conceivable preference.

All bodies for the V-16 chassis are designed and executed by Fleetwood—the world's foremost producer of custom coachcraft. Thus, no matter which body type you select, you are assured the fine custom craftsmanship and the carefully-chosen materials for which Fleetwood is world-renowned.

Strindberg's 'Father' May Give Effete Gotham A New Thrill

By GEORGE SEIBEL

This evening New York is to witness an opening that the critics of Broadway will discuss tomorrow. Just to put New York into its place, one day behind Pittsburgh, that production will be reviewed here and now, before the curtain has risen at the Forty-ninth Street Theater.

George Seibel

Wandering down Shaftesbury avenue in London, nearly two years ago, I saw Robert Loraine was playing in one of the many theaters of that Rialto. Robert Loraine is not unknown to America. Years ago he scored a great success in Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman," as John Tanner, Shaw's modern Don Juan Tenorio, who is pursued by the women.

Loraine was playing Strindberg's gruesome psychological drama, "The Father," and a dainty fantasy by Barrie, "Barbara's Wedding."

That is the double bill which the Shuberts are presenting tonight at the Forty-ninth Street Theater.

New York has seen "The Father" once before, in 1912, and did not like it. But Loraine may change all that.

TERRIFIC ACTING

Loraine has made his portrayal of Strindberg's crazy hero one of the great masterpieces of character acting. It is terrific. I remember only two excursions into the macabre that compared with it — Richard Mansfield's Baron Chevrial in "A Parisian Romance" and Leo Ditrichstein's Marquis de Priola in Lavedan's tragedy.

Strindberg's "Father" is crazy, as Strindberg was. When the great Swedish writer sent his play to Emile Zola, the French naturalist wrote him that only the "Father" was a really vital and living character.

Zola was right, and the reason of it was that the "Father" is Strindberg himself.

Loraine shows this character, laboring under the hallucination that his wife wants him put into an insane asylum, in order to get control of their daughter's education, slowly lapsing into actual madness, until at the close he is tricked by his old nurse into putting on a straitjacket.

A bitter, strident, savage drama that makes Ibsen taste like milk and water.

A piece of acting by Loraine so gruesome that Gotham may get a new shudder.

It was well advised to put the little Barrie fantasy on the bill as a curtain-raiser. But "Barbara's Wedding" is about the weakest tea ever brewed by Sir James.

Robert Loraine has a great actress with him in this American premiere of the Strindberg opus.

Haidee Wright is well remembered in many roles since she was with E. H. Sothern in "The Two Virtues" by Sutro. The finest thing I ever saw her do was Queen Elizabeth in Clemence Dane's "Will Shakespeare."

She first rose to fame by a shriek.

Wilson Barrett, a romantic English actor, who did not hesitate to play "Hamlet," but made most of his fame and fortune in "The Silver King" and "The Sign of the Cross," was playing at the Princess Theater in London.

Haidee Wright had her first engagement in his company. She was a Christian boy who is thrown to the lions. Every night the audience eagerly awaited this sadistic thrill. Her shriek was the sensational feature of "The Sign of the Cross."

The story goes that one old lady, not able to get to the theater for the earlier part of the performance, panted up the staircase and asked the usher:

"Has she shrieked yet?"

It will be a great evening in New York, when Robert Loraine and Haidee Wright play Strindberg. But will New York like it any better than in 1912?

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

We have just come within an ace, which appears to be the term for the difference between a miss and a mile, of having Ethel Barrymore, in "The School for Scandal," among the October show bookings. It was so close that Frank McGrann, "ahead" of Miss Barrymore, was here to distribute publicity gems concerning the noted feminine member of the Barrymore clan. October 19 was to have been the date, but, alack, the New York office suddenly decided that Chicago should be served first, so it is not until later that we'll be seeing her.

Small Timer asks the audience to sing the bunion song, "I'm Dancing with Tears in My Eyes."

The second play of the Theater Guild subscription season will be Gilbert Miller's production of Philip Barry's "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," in the Nixon November 16. John Golden's production of Rachel Crothers' "As Husbands Go," will come the week of December 7. The remaining plays for the Guild season will be selected from "Mourning Becomes Electra," by O'Neill; "Too Good to be True," G. B. Shaw's latest; "Versailles," by Dr. Emil Ludwig; "The House of Connelly," by Paul Green; "The Coward," by H. E. Lenormand; "Three Times Waterloo," by Eugene Gurster.

Small Times says the bachelor farmer who wanted a wife but bought a washing machine instead probably thought he'd be cleaned either way.

Seth Parker, alias Phillips Lord, and the Jonesport Folks will Mosquerade in Syria Shrine's spacious hall tonight.

Notes About Stage and Screen Attractions

Seats are on sale for the first production of the fourth Pittsburgh subscription season of the Theater Guild, "Reunion in Vienna," a new comedy by Robert E. Sherwood, which opens in the Nixon Monday. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne head the cast.

"They told me to get a suit that looked like rags," he relates. "Well, I ups to them and says, 'I had it on when I got here.'" William Haines is starred and the cast includes Leila Hyams and Ernest Torrence.

Lionel Barrymore, who scored in Norma Shearer's "A Free Soul," is starred in "Guilty Hands," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has screened from a story by Bayard Veiller. It is in the Fulton. Polly Moran and Kay Francis head the supporting cast. It was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, maker of "Trader Horn."

Knowing How to Value Hand Is Important in Game

An ace is worth as much as a trick to an adversary. For whether held by either partner or declarer the ace can contribute a trick, but also can help to establish clearing suits and bring in tricks which could not be won unless the ace had been held. Hence the promotional value which the ace extends to a lesser card in the same honors holder and the value of the ace in the playing hand must include these additional values.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

White of egg applied to the complexion acts as an astringent. Beat slightly so it can be handled, spread over the skin surface. In five or 10 minutes remove with clear, tepid water.

During the swimming season hair should be shampooed once a week. The dip in the waves does not remove oil; it unites oil and dust, forming a horrid, gummy substance. Hair should be dried at once after a swim; the scalp should be frictioned. Sunlight is good for the scalp but if too prolonged it will bleach hair of certain shades.

Thanks for Courtesy

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

If a gentleman helps a lady on with her coat should she thank him? EMILY LOU.

Most assuredly she should. A person should thank another for a courtesy, no matter how slight. Any woman who takes for granted any courtesy and does not thank for it is not well bred.

Sharing the Picnic Luncheon

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Two young girls A and B are going on a picnic with two boys friends of A. B has never met the boys before. It is planned that they bring lunch. The question is should both girls furnish the lunch or should A alone furnish it as they are all her friends?

A. M.

B would feel very cheap I think if she doesn't plan to share the luncheon responsibility with A. A is generous to share her introductions and her invitation, and B should divide with A the picnic food accessories.

Don't Hold a Person to Dark Past

[illegible] the man you love [illegible] and he has paid for it in suffering and remorse, and now he's asking you to believe in him and help him to build a new, fine future. Are you going to do it? Or are you going to let him down because he was decent enough to make a clean breast of it?

But my ideals have been smashed, you cry.

POOR IDEALS

Yes, and it's a good thing they have. The sooner such ideals as yours are smashed the better woman you'll be. For your ideals were based on ignorance and intolerance, little girl, and they would have brought you nothing but misery. Moreover, while we're on the subject let me give you another bit about ideals. If you are truly growing, life will smash your ideals almost as fast as you make them. For with each step ahead, you'll see a wider horizon and believe a bigger truth. So if you can't prepare to change your notions, sister, you'd better crawl into a kiddie car and stay there.

Mind you, I'm not defending Bill. I'm not saying that his past was a silly trifle. It wasn't. But his past is past now and he has paid the price. Isn't it silly not to be big enough to recognize these facts, and stand by him instead of raving that your life is ruined?

Bills! Your life isn't ruined unless you wreck it yourself by your own stupid intolerance. Step out of it! Bill may have been a fool once, but he's a brave, fine man now. Stop your sniffling, kid, and try to be worthy of him.

ALL IN A DAY

Unsung New Yorkers—No. 93.

Marion was a chorus girl in the Follies. She smiled. She danced. She looked forward to a happy life. That's how the story begins

SUPPOSE we go back five or six years to get into the swing of the thing. If you knew Marion in those days, you'd be certain to like her. Everyone else did, and is there any reason why you should have been an exception?

Consider the kid. About 19, I should say. Big eyes. A contagious laugh. A grand figure. And—oh, well, you know what I'm trying to say. She was as pretty a kid as ever graced the front line of any Ziegfeld show. And that's not a bad boost.

Almost all of the girls in this show with Marion had definite ideas of a future. The fact that not one chorine in a thousand ever accomplishes her aim doesn't seem to make any difference to any new batch that happens along. They all have hopes—and thoughts—and ambitions.

The variety of these thoughts would astound you. Some want to be stage stars. Some would like nothing better than to run their own cafes. Others have been reading fiction magazines and feel certain that they will be able to choose any one of 20 millionaires. And one or two kids are looking for the right guy, marriage and a happy home.

But Marion didn't have her mind set on any particular thing. She was having a swell time, and that's not a bad ambition in life, either. She went out with plenty of the boys and did nothing that might cause her name to be handed around in the Broadway manner. She lived at home with her mother—and she lived there all the time.

If they asked the kid about marriage in those days she merely shrugged her shoulders and handed out one of those grand smiles.

"What's the use of thinking about that right now?" she would reply. "I'm having too good a time to go in for the serious stuff. Maybe, when I feel that I'm ready for it, I'll marry Danny. He's a for it. I'll marry Danny."

Danny was the young man who had lived around the corner as far back as the girl could remember. They had been kid sweethearts.

Funny thing about that situation, though. Danny had never suggested marriage until she landed in the Follies. The minute she parked with Ziegfeld, the young man suddenly came to the conclusion that this girlie was a prize package. He liked to tell the boys in the office that his girl was in the Follies. And he enjoyed a bit of boasting, too.

"I don't know exactly when we will tie up," he told his co-workers. "It takes dough to get married these days and I haven't any too much to start with. But I'll tell you one thing. When we do get hitched, I'm pulling Marion right out of show business. I'm not having any wife of mine in the Follies."

One night, one of the minor principals became indisposed. When I say she became indisposed I mean that she showed up at the theater in such a condition that her breath would stagger the first 10 rows. Marion was her understudy. And the kid went on that night for the first time as a principal.

As the saying goes in Cicero, she wowed 'em. Always a swell dancer and the possessor of a voice that was not too squeaky, she was better in the part than the other girl had been. It was just like the stories in the success magazines. Or do the success magazines draw the line at Broadway?

At any rate, Marion played the part for the remainder of the run. She seemed to be having just as good a time as ever, and she was certainly just as much a pal of the other chorines as when she had been one of them. Then, from out of nowhere, popped her millionaire.

He was a young chap and by no means a phoney. His father is one of the wealthiest men in the United States, and the boy has some twenty millions in his own right. He went cookoo over Marion, and it wasn't any time at all before he asked her to share his name, his fortune and his liquor closet.

Before Marion would give him an answer the story broke in the papers. It wasn't the girl's fault, but you could never get the boy's father to believe that. Papa raised the very devil and gave out firey statements about "that actress." It was all very exciting to every one except Marion.

When she arrived at the theater that night the girls crowded around with their congratulations. Marion took a few of them aside.

"I'll accept your congratulations, kids," she chirped, "but first I want you to know why you're congratulating me. I'm quitting the show business to get married—but not to the man you think. I'm marrying Danny and I'm through with the stage forever."

I happened to be around the theater that night and I heard the news. Just before she left, I asked her what it was all about.

"It's true, Mark," she said simply. "I've been thinking things over since that story broke in the papers, and I've made up my mind.

"You don't really know Danny at all. You've only met him at the stage door once or twice, but he's really a peach of a fellow. I always knew I liked him—but it wasn't until this rotten story came out that I knew I loved him.

"You see, Mark, the stage doesn't mean anything to me. I've had a couple of years of it now, and I think I've had just about enough. I don't want to sound a sunshine girl, but a couple of kids and the right guy seem much more important to me than rehearsals and pictures in the papers.

"Danny hasn't any too much money, but we'll get along okay. You'll see."

I nodded.

"I hope so, Marion." I told her. "You're never coming back to the stage, eh?"

"Never," she returned. "I'm positive of that."

The girl kept her word. She quit the show and married Danny. Two years later there was a baby boy. Aside from going backstage and seeing some of her old friends now and then she kept away from show business. The millionaire was long since a thing of the past. He is now married, incidentally, to another actress. Papa squawked just as loudly as the first time, but it didn't do him any good.

One night Marion returned home to find a note from Danny. It was short and to the point.

"I'm through," it read. "I can't support you and the baby any longer. I guess maybe our marriage was a mistake."

It had taken him a long, long time to find out.

Marion is now a chorus girl in the Follies. She smiles. She dances. She looks forward to a happy life—for her son. I guess she still loves Danny. And that's how the story ends.

ROOKIE HEADS ALL-TIME HERO LIST

NO MATTER WHICH side wins out after Pepper Martin's world series is resumed in St. Louis tomorrow, the Cardinal rookie will go into baseball's hall of fame as the most heroic figure outside the pitching department that ever dominated the diamond classic. Even if his team loses the series by dropping two games in succession, the defeat will not dim the brilliance of Martin's sensational individual work nor alter the fact that in all the history of the post season derby there has been no single offensive force to compare with him.

Pepper Martin

Aside from the pitching heroes the world series has had its outstanding regulars through more than a quarter of a century, but down through the entire list of George Rohr, Home Run Baker, Eddie Collins, Dutch Lewis, Harry Hooper, Babe Ruth and others, none ever sparkled with such remarkable consistency through so many games as the Oklahoma mustang with the lug punch and the flying legs, who has stolen the fall show since the moment it got under way a week ago today.

VETERAN PLAYERS HAVE stood out here and there at times intermittently during a series, but never a recitation of the first full season just three years off the sand lots outstripping them all. The hardest test was the one that proved him greatest, for instead of weakening under the new responsibility when moved to the clean-up notch yesterday he rose to new heights with a home run and two singles that knocked in four of his clubs five runs.

Martin, who hit exactly .300 for the regular season, has only to travel at a fair pace during the remainder of the series, be it one game or two, to smash several world series records. When he made his twelfth hit yesterday he equaled the series mark held jointly by Buck Herzog, Joe Jackson and Sam Rice. His batting average is .667, the highest ever made in five title games. His hits have included four doubles and a home run. He is credited with four of the seven bases stolen in the series, and of the 14 runs scored by his club in the five games played to date Pepper has accounted for 10, by knocking in five and scoring five himself. No seasoned star ever approached the dizzy world series heights to which this yearling has risen in a single week.

BUT THE PART played by Martin in the victory which put the Cards out in front three games to two the first time since 1924 that the National League has led at the end of the fifth game should not be allowed to detract from the credit due Bill Hallahan for another swell exhibition of pitching.

In four starts against the A's in two years Hallahan has shut them out twice and held them to a single run once. In his two games this fall he has given them only one run, and in a total of 29 innings pitched against them in two years he has allowed only three runs all told and has been scored on in only two frames.

THOUGH THE CARDS have the advantage in needing only one more victory whereas the A's must win two games in succession to retain the world championship, the National Leaguers are not in, by any means. They've got the toughest kind of a fight on their hands to win the one game needed, as Mack will be better fortified in the box with Grove and Earnshaw ready to go again if two games are played, while Street must depend on Derringer and Grimes. If is not yet known whether Street plans to gamble with Derringer on tomorrow's game, giving Grimes an extra day's rest in case a seventh contest is played, or to try to end the series with Grimes tomorrow. No doubt the Cards will meet Grove again in the sixth game and it won't be easy to repeat on him. He has not lost two starts in succession since September 18 and 28, 1928.

Sparky Adams

THE FREQUENT SHIFTS which the Cardinals have been making at the hot corner on account of the lameness of Sparky Adams, the regular guardian of that post, bring to mind the fact that third base has been the source of more trouble to managers in the world series than all the other positions combined.

It started in 1906 when an injury to Lee Tannehill put George Rohe at third for the White Sox. Rohe being the first dark horse to star in the big stakes. In 1908, Coughlin was unable to play in the first two games for the Tigers and Germany Schaefer was moved over from second.

IN 1909 A SPRAINED ankle took Bobby Byrne out of the Pirate lineup during the latter part of the final game and Tommy Leach had to be called in from center field.

Just before the regular season of 1914 ended Red Smith suffered a broken leg and Chuck Deal of Wilkinsburg went in to star for the Braves in the title series. Jimmy Johnston was hurt and forced to leave the Robin lineup in 1920. Sheehan playing the last three games.

M'NALLY HAD TO be lifted from the Yankee array in 1921 and Baker replaced him for the last two games. In 1924 Bluege moved to short for the Senators to relieve Peckinpaugh in the third game but withdrew again in favor of Taylor, the latter being supplanted later by Miller. In 1925 Myer was called from the bench for three games after Bluege was hurt in the second, and in 1928 Robertson had to go in to relieve Dugan for the Yankees after the first two games. The third sack is rather a sore spot in the derby.

THAT NEW YORK'S boxing commission made the right move originally in refusing to let Benny Leonard meet Pauline Walker until the former lightweight champion had first been tested against an opponent of lower caliber is evident from the charge that even such a setup as poor old Pal Silvers had to take a dive to make Leonard look good.

If it required a dive on the part of a low-rater like Silvers to insure a Leonard victory it isn't hard to figure that Benny would have no chance in an up-and-up bout with a harder foe. The commission is to be commended for its latest step in refusing to sanction the Leonard-Walker bout in view of the suspicious appearance of Benny's first test. It may be saving the fans from a stinging and the ring game from another black eye.

THE SHIFT OF Pitt's kicking burden to the brawny right leg of Paul Collins is rather an unusual one for the Panthers. Not since Marsh Johnson used to drop back from center to kick have the Panthers used any one other than a regular backfield man to do their punting.

Paul Collins

Collins was a good booter before his college days when he played at Central High School in Sioux City, Ia., but in recent years his skill has not grown, as he has had little opportunity to show his wares or develop his natural ability.

INCIDENTALLY, IT WAS rather sad for Iowans to see one of their native sons keep the Panthers out of danger after a Pitt back had put the Hawkeyes in the game by poor kicks. Collins' fine work this season is not limited to his kicking. After two years of in-and-out football, during which he would look like an all-America player one Saturday and follow it up the succeeding week with a colorless performance, Paul has found his true [illegible]. His defensive work has been above par, and as [illegible] running mate, Jim MacMurdo, aided by Pitt's [illegible] Milligan, have opened those gaping holes through which Paul Reider has rushed for his numerous gains.

PITT, DUKES POLISH UP FOR TILTS

By JESS CARVER

Plenty Carnegie Tech gridiron warriors in various stages of repair and disrepair will be trundled out of their lockers tomorrow as Al Beckett's Skibos take their battle for America's ear and a football game Saturday with a fourth and record consecutive win of George Jeff Hartwell.

The departure of the Tartans for their southland battle ground is the most important college news event of the day here. While the Skibos are traveling the Panther Duke and Dukes will be putting the finishing touches to their respective grid units for wear and tear against West Virginia state foes. The Dukes take on Waynesburg Bobcats Friday night, over the lights at Forbes Field and Pitt meets Orvaty Neale's West Virginia Mountaineers in the Stadium on Saturday.

20 IN SQUAD

The players in the Carnegie squad due to be trimmed into Pollard's lineup will include Ducatus Jones and Scott centers; Samples, Kebe Heinz, Dreshar and Heinzer, guards; Fletcher, Foreman, Burns, Boucher and Ekstrom, tackles; Stewart, Lewis, Croissant, Potts, Ostrosky and Skettini, ends, and Capt. Armentrout, Dreger, Beveridge, Ewing, Karel, Schmitt, Versteeg, Brewer, Giovenco, O'Dair, Pouncey and Bayles, backs.

It is extremely doubtful whether Tony Kroe and Lib Lewis will be able to play. Lewis stands the best chance of the two. Ostrosky is slated to start at least at Lib's post, with Schmitt paired with Marvin Potts.

The Tech party, which will number 41 in all, is leaving for Cincinnati today, arriving there early and in Atlanta at 8:45 tomorrow night.

Wesleyan's squad will leave Buckhannon and the protecting influence of Doc Cutlip and Bob Reger at noon today and check in here sometime this evening in time for a workout under the lights at Barney Dreyfuss field. They'll be preceded by Elmer Layden and his Dukes.

Coach Elmer Layden is figuring on a new backfield combination to try against the Bobpussies. He'll keep Zananelli at full and Bud Devenney at quarter, but will pair DeCoster, another little feller with DeLucca at the halves.

If Devenney will just agree to transfer his allegiance to Mussolini the Dukes will boast an all-Italian backfield.

WATCH LUCH GO

Meanwhile Jock Sutherland at Pitt still is debating whether or not to start Johnny Luch at fullback in the stead of little Jimmy Clark, who really needs a rest. Luch big and powerful and as fast almost as Jimmy is absolutely pleading for a chance to stack up against his fellow West Virginians.

Here is a tip: if he does start, and goes as well as he did against Iowa, it will be a sad day for the Mountaineers. You folks in the stands will see the closest approach to Joe Savoldi you've ever clapped.

Johnny Doyle, captain and star halfback of the Mountaineers, is not likely to get into action Saturday. A leg injury which he suffered in the Fordham game last Saturday has not responded to treatment.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8 (AP).—The San Francisco Seals, winners of the second half of the Pacific Coast League season, defeated Hollywood, first half winners, 7 to 5, here last night to take a two-game lead in the playoff for the championship.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY. THE BIRTHPLACE OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY—During the organization of Ripon College (formerly Brockway College), Ripon, Wis., in 1851, the privilege of the name was offered to the highest bidder. The record says: "The bidding was spirited, resulting finally in the name being struck off to William S. Brockway for a donation of $25, so the name Brockway College was adopted." Three years later, Brockway was a supporter of the first Republican party meeting to be held anywhere in the United States. At a meeting held on March 20, 1854, in the little frame building, the Republican party was born—and the same building is now preserved as the party's shrine. GREENLAND AND ICELAND—Greenland was named by Eric the Red in 983, his motive in giving a name suggesting verdure to a country covered with ice and having an arctic character was to encourage people to go there. In other words, Eric was guilty of a deception which real estate developers no longer practice in our days. On the other hand, Iceland is a verdant country with a mild climate and pastoral in aspect. It would be a matter of historical justice to rename these two countries. The name of Greenland for Iceland and vice versa would be perfectly in keeping with the characteristics of these island countries. I understand that a proposal to this effect has been repeatedly before their respective legislative bodies.

URAM GREAT LINEMAN

By JULIUS LEVIN

Although his dreams of leading a championship team in his final year at school were shattered by an unexpected setback received by Turtle Creek Union at the hands of Ford City, Sam Uram stands out as one of the greatest linemen playing scholastic football this season.

Uram, for three years a regular on Fox Miller's team, has been one of the mainstays of the Turtle Creek line and likely will get a lot of consideration when the all-star teams are selected at the close of the present campaign.

Uram is the type of player who never gives up, fighting from start to finish. Acting in the capacity of captain, he has been an inspirational leader for the Miller machine since the season got under way.

NOT SPECTACULAR

He is not the spectacular type of player, but he invariably can be found taking part in every play. He has been an ideal guard for Turtle Creek and much of the success attained by Union during the past few years has been due to his fine work.

Uram has the unique record of never missing a practice session which adds to his value as a teamworker. Coach Miller is going to have a tough time finding another player of Uram's type next fall.

School Notes

Ford City High School, which furnished one of the biggest upsets in scholastic football last Saturday when it defeated the highly-touted Turtle Creek Union eleven, 13-6, is out of the running for the

SAINTS DOWN ROCHESTER

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 8 (AP.).—George Davis, who has been the batting goat of the little world series, came to life and pounded out four hits to lead St. Paul, champion of the American Association, to a 9-to-0 victory over the Rochester Redwings, of the International League, yesterday.

The Saints still trail the Redwings two games to four.

The teams will play here again today. The series ends when one team has won five games.

PEPPER TO GET REAL WELCOME

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 8 (AP.).—A triumphal homecoming is being planned for the redoubtable Pepper Martin, hero of the world series.

A radio broadcast, a big parade and a testimonial dinner are in preparation for the Cardinal centerfielder. Subscriptions also are being taken for a gift to the Oklahoman.

Fight Results

MARTIN STAGES OLYMPIC GAMES

By NICK ALTROCK

Baseball's Funny Man

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Uncle Nick can conscientiously say Pepper Martin isn't having a field day this series. He is putting on the 1931 Olympic games. Among other demonstrations yesterday, he bunted a single and hit a home run. There is practically no secrecy left for him to pull now, except bunt a home run and steal on a foul ball.

Nick Altrock

Even the Philadelphia fans are cheering the boy. For the asking, he could have that City Hall statue of William Penn for a paperweight. The pecans in center field almost drowned him with paper when he went out to his position. The demonstration beat New York's reception to Lindbergh by 1,700 wastebaskets full. When Pepper gets out to St. Louis, they are liable to give him the Mississippi River.

Well, the Card are now 1 up. If they only look out Martin, the series might go on forever.

Connie Mack juggled his team around the latter part of the game. Connie was so disgusted, some of his outfielders were lucky they weren't moved to Altoona and Shamokin. The A's' only batting strategy now seems to be to kill the Card's pitchers with batted balls, or else break their hands. Grimes almost got his

ROONEY-WEST VIEW FRAY TOPS GRID CARD

Mack Depends on Grove, Earnshaw to Keep Title for Athletics

BURNS SLATED AS TUBE CITY FOE SUNDAY

By TOM BIRKS

Followers of independent gridiron teams should see some hectic games this week-end. Four outstanding battles have been scheduled.

In the senior loop Dan Burns goes to Olympia Park to meet the McKeesport Olympics, and, at West View, the first big Pittsburgh contest will be staged when the Rooneys clash with West View.

At Oakland's Frazier Street grounds Oakland Community will battle for the leadership of Section 2 of the lightweight conference with the Broadway Mounts flashing the opposition.

HEATED BATTLES

The Burns-Olympic and West View-Rooneys engagements figure to be torrid affairs. Owing to the bitter feeling, the conference president has assigned four officials to work the West View game. In addition to the referee, umpire and linesman, a field judge has been appointed.

Rooney will start John Karesavith Kelsh playing fullback. Halpate, former Burns and Olympic star halfback, is a storm center. Managers Boyer and Muzzio both registered him for Sunday's game, but where he will definitely play remains to be seen.

Tube City fans are raving over the showing of Highberger. The former Carnegie Tech star has been the outstanding lineman of the conference.

Rooney has decided to change his line for the West View game. He was anything but satisfied with the showing against the Olympics and Leonard Schnupp, former Carnegie Tech lineman, will start Sunday. Muzzio has signed two East Pittsburgh players, Vogal halfback, and Pendro for the line. Rooney has released Whitey Walitchus.

The Etna Sycamores will strive for a tie for the leadership in the first division of the Lightweight conference at 3:15 tonight at Sanders Field, Aspinwall, when the Pleasant Valley team is met.

HONUS AT DINNER

Honus Wagner will be the honored guest at dinner to be held at Masonic Hall, near Connellsville, Pa., tonight for the teams of the Southern Cambria County Industrial Baseball League. Thomas F. Dawson will be among the honor guests.

Harrison is by way of being the athletic director of the University of Pittsburgh and Reynolds is secretary-treasurer of the Tournament of Roses Committee. Photo shows them in Harrison's office at the Stadium. Reynolds is here on personal business and also is trying to arrange a game for Charley Hyatt's All-Stars with the University of Pittsburgh basketball team this winter. that was a hit. Moreover, he drove in a tally with one of those old-time sacrifice drives to the outfield that did not count as a time at bat against the hitter.

HEROES ABUNDANT

The series is producing many great moments, and there are a flock of heroes who share the honors with Martin. There is Bill Hallahan, for instance. Here we have another humble lad who deserves all the good that can be written about him by the army of correspondents at the series. Hallahan yesterday was nicked by two vicious drives from the ferocious bats of Al Simmons and Jimmy Foxx.

He seemed to be hurt when a Foxx drive rattled off his hip but the game lefthander refused to complain. Although he was touched for nine hits, Hallahan's pitching in some respects was better than his shutout exploit of the second game. Bill had the satisfaction of pitching 15 innings in a row before the world champions were able to get a runner over the rubber. Simmons scored the only run in the seventh inning.

Wally Hoyt attempted to hold the Redbirds in check, but the veteran righthander could not make the grade. Hoyt made a fine showing for five rounds, but Martin shocked the Mackian sharpshooter in the sixth with a homer into the left field stands that scored two runs and put the Redbirds three runs in front.

ADAMS FORCED OUT

Sparky Adams tried to play in the fifth battle, but after he had opened the fight with a single, he had to be taken out in favor of Andy High. Watkins flied out but Frisch singled to center to send High to third, and Andy tallied on Martin's drive to Simmons. Frisch doubled to left in the sixth with two out, and Martin added two runs with his homer.

Simmons singled to left for his third hit, with one out, in the seventh. Foxx rapped a hot single off Hallahan's hip into right, and Simmons raced to third. Al scored as High threw out Miller.

Watkins scored for the Cards in the eighth. Wattie walked with one out and stole second. With two out, Martin singled to left for his third hit to score his outfield mate. Hafey singled to start the ninth, but was forced by Bottomley. Wilson singled to center to send Jim to third. Gelbert came through with a single to left to tally Bottomley. The Cards totaled 12 hits for the day.

RUTH EXPECTS RALLY FROM ATHLETICS

By BABE RUTH

Baseball's Highest Salaried Player.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Well it certainly looks pretty bad for the Mackmen now. They were not able to take two of the three games on their own grounds, and they must go back to finish the series on the Cardinals' park. You know they were my choice to win, and I also predicted a hard-fought series. But I didn't look for the return trip to St. Louis with the A's trailing.

Babe Ruth

I thought yesterday that Mack's team was getting back to the form we were accustomed to look for in our games against them during the regular season. They justly have the reputation of being a great rallying team in late innings, but in this series they are not able to get properly started, early or late. They have been in a batting slump for some time and their pitching, which was expected to be so good, has not been able to win with so few runs.

I know every National League sympathizer will say that it is great pitching which is making the A's look so feeble. I have no argument with anybody on this score and the pitchers Gabby Street has sent out have done nobly. But no pitching staff in either league figures to hold a team like the A's down around the .200 mark in hitting. When Mack's team can score only 12 runs in five games there is something wrong with the attack and it can't all be the other fellows' pitching.

The position of the A's today is a tough one. But it is not an impossible task that confronts them. I recall that we won two out of three from the Cardinals on their own field in 1926, and came back to New York in the lead, three games to two, just as the Cardinals are now. We figured it would be an easy task to win one of two games at the Yankee Stadium, but the Cards stepped out and took both games there, to win the series. That is what the A's must do this year if they are to win.

On the play so far in the series, the Cards look like the better team, but I have seen the A's come back so often when they seemed beaten, that I won't be surprised to see them put on the big rally.

Pepper Martin's Rise in Game Reviewed

Associated Press.

Twenty-seven years old; born Temple, Okla., February 29, 1904.

Five feet 8 inches tall; weight, 160 pounds.

Went to school in Oklahoma City, attended Irving High, played on the local ball team and then quit to take a job delivering for a shoe shop, on a truck.

Started baseball as a pitcher for Ardmore, Okla., 1923.

Outfielder for Greenville, Tex., 1924.

Second baseman for Ardmore, Okla., 1925, until bought by St. Louis Cardinals and sent to Ft. Smith, Ark., where he played shortstop.

Outfielder at Houston, Tex., 1927.

Recalled to the Cards in 1928 but saw action in only a few games as a pinch runner.

Blake Harper, former manager of the Ft. Smith team, who now has charge of concessions at Sportsman's Park, nicknamed Joe Pepper after seeing Joe circle around the bases and listening to his line of chatter when "The Martins" was with Ft. Smith.

CAN'T SNEEZE AT PEPPER

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS ON WORLD SERIES SPECIAL, Oct. 8.—You can't afford to sneeze at pepper.

Well, that Pepper Martin has done everything a man can do in October without being arrested.

He finally smacked a homicker, sprained his knee, tied the series record for all time and jumped into Connie Mack's lap and hollered, "Daddy, you've been more than a mother to me."

After the Cards lost Tuesday Gabby Street and Pepper had a two-power conference. Gabby asked:

"Pepper, do you want the rest of the Cards out on the field with you for Wednesday's game?"

Pepper crawled into the bat bag to think it over. Finally he said:

"Yep, send 'em out. But tell 'em not to interfere with my rallies."

And they didn't. They even helped Pepper a little by scoring an extra run that wasn't needed.

Pep drove in four runs, stole his daily rnung of base and allowed Cochrane to throw him out once. At least, the four umpires thought Pepper was out, but we advise them to stay out of the Ozarks this winter.

The Kid has just about made this series a personal affair.

But that ain't nothing. You should see him on a motorcycle.

We haven't seen one man dominate a situation so thoroughly since we tried to get our laundry back from Looey Hop Wing without a check.

He was all over like ragweed on a windy day.

Tomorrow the thing should wind up in St. Looey. It will be Grover's blister against Burleigh Grimes' twisted finger. But Grimes will have Martin on his side, and that's better than a licence to steal.

CONNIE LOOKS FOR HITTERS TO CLICK

By CONNIE MACK

Manager Philadelphia Athletics, Winners of Five World Titles.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Bill Hallahan stopped us 5 to 1 yesterday and became the first individual to win two games from us in a world series since we started the 1929 pennant winning era.

The Cardinals are now out in front with three victories to their credit against two for the Athletics, and all remaining games will be played in St. Louis.

Connie Mack

That gives Gabby Street an advantage, but we are by no means out of it, for the National Leaguers have both Earnshaw and Grove to beat to win the title.

That means we are well gunned for pitchers in remaining games. I fully expect to win tomorrow and deadlock the series. Then one more conquest will give us the title. I feel sure that this series will go seven games.

We have not appeared to our best advantage, but we have showed enough power to make us dangerous to the end.

DEPENDS ON HITTERS

Just let our hitters start clicking as they did during the pennant race, and I don't see how either Grove or Earnshaw can be beaten.

As my players prepared to leave for St. Louis last night they all assured me that they had plenty of fight left in them and would be equal to winning two games on the Cardinals' own field.

Just a few base hits and Earnshaw and Grove can keep the world's title in Philadelphia but, if in the end, we are beaten, we will all congratulate Gabby Street and his men for their skill and hustling in these games.

One man we have had trouble with ever since the start of the series is Pepper Martin, who yesterday drove in four of the Cardinals' five runs. He had two singles and a home run while he put over the Cardinals' first run in the opening inning with a long fly to Simmons.

SPECTACULAR HOMER

His home run was a spectacular one and lodged into the upper deck of the left field stands in the sixth. Frisch was on base at the time and I think that this was the hit that really beat Waite Hoyt, who, up to this time, had been pitching commendably.

Pepper's homer increased the St. Louis lead to three runs and with Bill Hallahan holding us safe in nearly every inning that assured the National Leaguers victory.

We go to St. Louis with the feeling that our luck will change and that base hits will come. If we do any hitting, I am not worrying about our own pitching.

Barry Won't Give Up Bojarski Ownership

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—(AP.)—Jack Barry, Erie (Pa.) boxing promoter, declared yesterday he was ready to give up promoting rather than surrender part ownership in Frank Bojarski, a fighter.

He appeared before the state Athletic Commission, where he was told promoting and ownership of a fighter was a violation of Commission rules. The hearing was short, and no action was taken on Barry's punishment until after he appears at a second hearing before Dr. William D. McClelland, Pittsburgh Commissioner, next week.

Joe Dubranski, McKeesport manager, and Albert Katz, Philadelphia wrestler-promoter, were suspended by the Commission.

The South Brownsville Boys' football game will be played tonight at Connellsville Memorial. The contest will be staged at Hunter Field. Admission.

One of the reasons for the fine showing of the Greensburg High school eleven this season is Jack Stott, who is coaching the Browns and White linemen. Stott has been a valuable assistant to Head Coach Earl Loucks.

Two of the star performers on Earl Loucks's Greensburg eleven this season are Michael Stefanik and Theodore Gazzier, of the Westmoreland county city. These two boys have done not only their share of scoring but have starred in the line.

Stock Exchange Topics

Wall Street Expects Market Trading to Grow Narrow

Most experienced observers in the financial community are of the opinion that the market over the next little while may be expected to develop into a quiet narrow trading affair. They point to its performance in the recent past after the culmination of similar periods of liquidation such as that which drew to a close on Monday. The contention is that though recent developments have been such as should tend to discourage further pressure of unwarranted liquidation there is nothing as yet to induce buying of stocks in the hope of early improvement. Business, it is shown, is still scraping along the bottom with little to indicate any broad upswing which would serve as the basis for brisk bullish activities. Selective investment buying is, however, expected to make itself felt on any appreciable dips which may develop.

The stock market has come through its first test with colors flying, so to speak. True, the advance ran into somewhat of a snag, but this was hardly unexpected in view of the extended rally which had immediately preceded. The decline amounted to but 1 point in the 90 composite stock index of Standard Statistics, erasing but a small fraction of the 9 point gain of the previous day.

Of greater significance was the continued uptrend in the bond market, in which advances were general. Firmness in bonds has always been looked upon as the prime requisite for sustained betterment in stocks, and the way in which these senior securities conduct themselves within the next few days will have an important bearing on the near term trend in the stock market.

There is one angle stressed in conservative quarters which cannot be overlooked in shaping one's investment policy, and that is the matter of the restriction on short sales. The opinion is held that actual values can only be tested in a natural market, and until such a test is witnessed there will not be sufficient real accumulation to lay the necessary foundation for an extended advance. As an offset to this point of view, however, analytical observers stress the fact that the fundamental objective for the exchange authorities in their edicts against short-selling was to have the market enter a stabilized zone.

Renewed strength in carrier stocks was accompanied by rumors that the Interstate Commerce Commission decision in the freight rate case might be handed down during the approaching holiday recess. If the findings of the commission are made known over the week-end it will have come about somewhat earlier than had been generally anticipated. The commission took final testimony on the railroads' petition on the last day of September and since has been engaged in studying the facts as set forth in an endeavor to arrive at a decision in the matter. The financial community still clings to the hope that the rails may get something in the way of assistance though few expect anything like the 15 per cent rise requested.

New York traction shares were among the strong features under the leadership of Brooklyn-Manhattan-Transit which scored a rise of some 7 points. Strength here brought revival of reports that news bearing on proposed unification plans was imminent. Legislation necessary to make the unification possible was passed in Albany early this year and signed by the Governor late in April. Since, however, inability of the local authorities and representatives of the traction units to reach definite agreement has been a stumbling block in the way of final consummation of the deal.

One Family Gets Phone Book Section

ERIE, Pa.—(INS.)—One family here has a whole section of the telephone directory all to itself. It's the "X" section, occupied only by John Xethakis and his family.

Other facts revealed by a search of the directory show the town has half a dozen "Eggs" but only three "Greenbacks" and that "Rainy Holladay" lives here and "Robert Kilheffer" is a butcher.

Argentina Seeks 'Alky' Motor Fuel

BUENOS AIRES.—(AP.)—An official commission has been named to investigate the feasibility of extracting fuel alcohol from corn on a commercial basis. Although the government operated portion of the oil industry produces two-thirds of the domestic gasoline and Argentina ranks twelfth among world oil producers, the country imports about half of its needed fuel at an annual cost of $50,000,000.

Brick Walls Defy Water Penetration

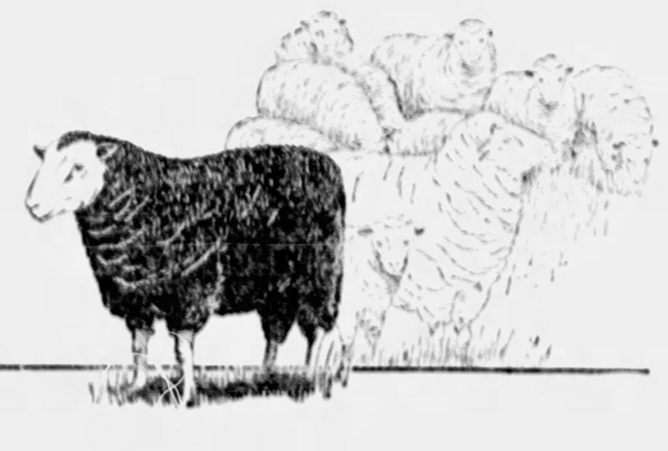
When interior walls of brick buildings become wet during a rain it is more likely that the water has entered through open spaces between the brick and mortar rather than directly through them, say bureau experts.

Havana Preparing Big Convention Day

HAVANA.—(INS.)—Havana is making last minute preparations for welcoming an expected 2,000 convention visitors October 13.

Delegates to the International Fire Chiefs Association convention are to be accompanied by several score American mayors. About the same time some 200 members of the Association of Police Chiefs, will arrive here from St. Petersburg for a two-day post-convention tour.



BLACK SHEEP

IT is a painful but too prevalent fact that unrestricted inheritances left to immature heirs are often spent foolishly, and defeat the intent of rearing strong minded and conservative youth.

Extravagance is the black sheep of character, and many well-to-do men and women are courting future trouble for their younger heirs through negligence to make a will under competent executor and trusteeship.

By appointing us as your executor and trustee, you assure for your estate not only skilled and competent management, but also a kindly and personal interest in the continued well-being of those you love.

Announcement of Hoover Program Dispels Gloom In Bankers' Convention

—By B. C. FORBES—

BY FORBES

HOW ABOUT ... personal ... moratorium for one year?

THE WRITER was freely ... added facts ... the conversation ... for refusing to join the gloom chorus. I was told:

All I can say is that any person or institution possessing ample means that can't see the attractiveness of sound American securities at current prices ... regardless of what may or may not happen temporarily ... doesn't deserve to own or control wealth.

What opportunities in these latter days for both patriotism and profit.

A QUIET, forward-creeping market is preferable to a spectacular boom. Nobody wants the market to try to push up so fast as to lose its breath. Let's have sanity not sensationalism.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Department of Agriculture estimates the cotton crop in the United States on October 1 at 16,284,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, on condition forecast of 69.3 per cent of normal. This compares with a crop of 18,685,000 bales forecasted as of September 1 on the basis of a condition figure of 66.0 per cent, and a final production of 13,932,00 bales.

The Bureau of Census reports 5,406,307 running bales counting round bales as halves ginned from the crop of 1931 prior to October 1, compared to 6,308,893 for 1930 and 8,30[illegible] for 1929.

AUTO LICENSE RETURNS OFF

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Despite increases in the issuance of motor vehicle operator licenses last month, total registrations and receipts by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles were less in September than in that month last year and for the first nine months of this year were below the mark for the corresponding period of 1930.

Total registrations to date this year were 5,156,996 with receipts of $30,892,232, while at the end of September 1930 the total registrations were 5,396,404 and the receipts $31,452,532. The registrations for September, 1930, were 137,898 and the receipts 8518,526 as compared with 166,723 and $441,983 last month.

Westinghouse Electric to Report Gain in Sales

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

IMPROVEMENT IN VOLUME of business has been reported by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Sales in September were greater than in August but remained substantially smaller than in September of last year.

Current earnings are covering dividend requirements at the recently established rate of $2.50 a year. Net profit for the third quarter is expected to be about equal to dividends of 62½ cents a share for the period.

This will reflect the economy program which has been under way for several months. Westinghouse Electric reported a deficit of $2,885,945 in the first quarter of this year. This was followed by a profit of $926,604 or 33 cents a share on 2,586,341 shares of common stock after deducting preferred dividends for the second quarter.

In the first half of this year a net loss of $1,959,341 was reported after all charges. This compared with net profit of $8,357,362 or $3.13 a share on the combined common and preferred stocks in the corresponding period of 1930.

Dividends Reduced

FOLLOWING THE DECLINE in business activity, the directors have made two reductions in dividend rates. On January 31, $1.25 a share was paid on the common and preferred stock which was at the annual rate of $5 a share. This was cut to $1 a share on the two classes of stock on April 30 and last month the dividend was again cut to 62½ cents a share.

The dividend provisions of the preferred stock are unusual. The 79,774 shares of the issue of $50 par value are entitled to annual dividends of $3.50 a share. After the common has received equal dividends the two issues share in any further disbursements.

With the 62½-cent payment recently declared, the preferred will have received a total of $3.87½ a share this year which is in excess of the minimum requirement. An increase in the preferred dividend rate to $3.50 undoubtedly will be made next year.

Surplus Reduced

THE COMPANY'S SURPLUS was reduced from $95,373,912 to about $88,000,000 during the first half of this year after giving effect to losses and the payment of unearned dividends. The increase in earnings in the third quarter, which may be expected to continue through the fourth quarter, indicates that further reductions in surplus are unlikely.

Earnings of Westinghouse Electric have declined sharply since the high record profit of $27,062,611 or $10.15 a share on the combined preferred and common stock was established in 1929. Profit in 1930 dropped to $11,881,706 or $4.46 a share and since that time the company has been compelled to resort to drastic economy measures to avoid showing losses.

In addition to changes in operating practices, several salary reductions have been made and office forces have been materially reduced.

Detroit Aircraft Will Reorganize

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—Stockholders of Detroit Aircraft Corporation, October 21, will vote on a reorganization plan. The proposals would divide activities of the corporation into two major divisions, one heavier than air, known as Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, and one lighter than air to be known as Metalclad Airship Corporation.

Under the plan, Detroit Aircraft Corporation stockholders would acquire a participating interest in each of the two new companies on an exchange basis of 10 shares of Detroit Aircraft for one share of Lockheed and two shares of Metalclad.

German War Bonds Higher in London

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Bank for International Settlement has notified the Bank of England of its intention to effect, as nearly as possible, the payment of interest on the German war 5½ per cent bonds in sterling to an amount equivalent to the gold value of sterling at the time of issue of the loan.

The quotation of the bond was marked up 5 points to 43 pounds on the announcement.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

in his time . . . With Tony Hughes, his pal, they had bent their elbows all night and were feeling too gay . . . Clarke, looking out of his hotel window, saw the Ringling Circus unloading . . . "Oooh, looka!" he yelled, "elephants and monkeys!" . . . The panic-stricken playmate sent for the house physician and Clarke was confined to an asylum! . . . And not until 10 days later could they prove that Clarke wasn't seein' things, but a real load of animals . . . And they file copies!

Funny quip at that . . . The one about the Cardinals being on one side and a Bishop on the other . . . Interesting character that Irish Count who is named Martin Maloney and dwells at Spring Lake, N. J. . . . The legends about him are interesting, at any rate . . . They say he had an architect make an exact copy of the White House at Washington for him . . . He lives in this replica, and explains he does so because he can never be President . . . A daughter was drowned at sea, it seems, and on the shore, exactly opposite the spot where she drowned, they say, he erected a church, as a memorial, and it is called the St. Catherine Cathedral . . . Beautiful . . . I pity the little guy with the suburban home . . . He has more trouble confronting him . . . When he seeks to renew the mortgage, several mortgage companies require that the name of his employer be given as reference . . . Then the employer, and not the employee, is investigated, and if reports indicate that the employer's business isn't so hot, and the employee may lose his job, the renewal is denied . . . Yes, indeedy . . . Howz tricks by you, Mr. Hoover?

Glad to hear "The Good Companions" at the 44th Street is doing such sell-out business . . . And that Miss Barrymore is coming back to form in "The School for Scandal" . . . And that Max Gordon may trio Jimmy Durante, Hope Williams and Clifton Webb . . . Show business is in a fine state when you pause to think that nearly all the worthwhile producers have put on flops so far . . . Strange seeing that fellow stand there looking so forlorn in front of that Broadway building . . . Three months ago he was a snooty headwaiter in one of the exclusive cabarets, now dark . . . Wonder if that's true? . . . I mean what that lad from Toronto writes . . . That the Woollcott story about the girl's dream—and the man with the scar—who had a hearse, and said to her, "Are You Ready?"—is in E. F. Benson's "Room in the Tower," which was published in Britain years ago . . . The latest edition, it appears, was issued by Knopf in England in '29 . . . The only difference being that it was a London bus conductor and not an elevator runner in a department store . . . And that he didn't say: "Are you ready?" but "There's room for one inside" . . . Woollcott didn't theft it . . . He said he hoped it wasn't too well known and that he had heard it himself . . . I know more people who couldn't sleep after reading it . . . I'm a story that way . . . I'll never be an editor, I guess.

It may vary slightly in value from time to time but it can never disappear, and it forms the backbone of the world. If real estate should disappear, the world would be at an end. Building and loan associations are restricted entirely to loans on real estate, the safest investment known.

Savings shares, 6% per annum, compounded semi-annually.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Carolina 'Moon'

Dry Agents Confiscate Still In Mountain Raid

He sighed a little. He knew there was nothing that he could do about it. Zeb Freeman was making moonshine again. Parson Tuttle didn't have any desire to do anything about it.

These sturdy people of the Carolina mountains had been making their moonshine since Revolutionary War days and would doubtless continue, despite Volstead, Anti-Saloon Leagues and certain religious—so called—creeds that spent millions lobbying in Washington and gave their poor ministers $600 a year salaries.

Good Jim Tuttle, who greatly benefited the community because he understood the people, knew something else. He knew that if he learned of revenuers in the vicinity he would send a warning to Zeb.

But no revenue officers had been seen for many weeks, so the Rev. Tuttle rode on to his hillside cabin home.

Zeb Freeman and his two boys, Clay and Stonewall, were working with their father. The mash was just right and the raw spirits were dripping speedily and high-proof into the kegs.

"Reckon we'll clear 'round $70 for this lot," old Zeb said.

"Reckon, Pap," Clay agreed. "You-all can git yourselves them new clothes up to th' store—that'll be plenty after I pay my taxes and get your Maw a bolt of calico."

"Nice," Stonewall commented.

POPULAR RECORD

Life was serene and prayerful on the Freeman place. The boys got their new clothes and Josie, their sister, got six new records for her phonograph.

One of these records pleased the whole Freeman family mightily. They had an ear for ballads, for real harmony, and this song impressed them.

It was "Carolina Moon."

Old Zeb, lacking in schooling, had a natural wit.

"That's mureh one kind of moon here in Carolina," he said, with a chuckle. "One shines on clear nights an' t'other one sort of lights you up effen you drink enough."

Again and again during the long hot summer, when crops failed for lack of rain, old Zeb and his sons were busy with their moonshine making. Down in Chinquapin Hollow this time, over back of Grayson Hill the next time, again tucked away on Jackson's bottom land in a corner of the creek.

Twice some revenue officers prowled about. Once when old Zeb was down in Chinquapin Hollow. That time Josie, spotting them because they had a strange car and looked like "furriners" cut across lots, waded the creek and gave her father and brothers a 15-minute warning.

Rance was rather fond of Josie.

"What you doin' of, these days, Rance?" Clay asked.

CONSIDERED FOOLISH

"Lookin' for something to bring in money," he said. "Th' farm is just about sizeable enough for Pop and Joe and Maw and Joe's wife. I have to be looking about."

"Reckon all that thar schoolin' you went an' got sorter spiled you fer a reg'lar man's work, Rance," Old Zeb said.

"No sir," Rance said, reddening a little, knowing that many of the people in his neighborhood considered him to be foolish and "different" because he had been to school so much. To be "different" down there was to be akin to a "furriner," which made one an outsider.

"Settle down on the Suttle place — almost po'try, Rance," Josie said, with a giggle.

"It's a right smart place, Josie, if it could be worked a couple years, plenty of good turpentine trees in the bottom land and th' south slope grows th' best tobacco in these parts."

"Well, Rance, I'm right pleased to hear that you-all don't aim to drift away an' be a furriner," old Zeb said.

Josie went out and sat on the bench under the gumwood tree, knowing that Rance would come out soon.

He did come out.

"Did you git to speak to Paw?" she asked.

"Not yet, Josie—I want to earn that money I need and buy the Suttle place—then I can show him I'm fit to take care of you."

Josie sighed.

"I reckon not, Josie."

He drew up beside her and talked long and earnestly. At first she moved away from him in amazement and cried out, "No—you wouldn't do that, Rance!"

But he continued to talk and talk and finally Josie agreed with what he said.

That night Josie's mother said, "Has Rance spoke yit, Josie?"

STILL DEMOLISHED

"Kind of."

"Kind of? Either he wants to marry up with you or else he don't."

The days went on and on. Old Zeb worked his farm as little as possible, except for his corn fields—he had to have corn in order to make his moonshine. And at almost regular intervals he and his sons set the mash and distilled their moonshine. Once they barely escaped and lost their still. Revenuers demolished it, but couldn't catch old Zeb or his boys.

And then old Zeb came back from town, a week later, with the proceeds of selling 10 gallons of the moonshine, and he was glowering.

"What is hit, Paw?" his wife asked.

"Reckon you never could tell—that thar Rance Boyden has gone and git him a job as a revenuer!"

"What?" yelled Clay and Stonewall, in unison.

"Sartin has."

"He better not come a sneakin' 'round here. I'll put my squirrel rifle onto him and they'll need a new revenuer," Clay declared.

"Reckon you're plumb disgusted, hain't you, Josie?" Stonewall asked.

"I ain't runnin' Rance Boyden," was all she said, but, later she added, "Effen you shoot your neighbor you'll git you in a feud."

But a few days later, when they started off for another siege in Chinquapin Hollow with the still, Josie was playing "Carolina Moon" again. She played it over and over that day. Josie's mother spoke of it that night.

"Seems if when you go fer to run th' still Josie don't do nothin' but play that Carolina Moon thing," she said.

Now and then Rance Boyden drove past the place. Several times he met old Zeb or one of the boys. He always greeted them but they wouldn't speak to him. So long as he didn't molest them they agreed among themselves not to touch him, but they'd be doggoned, they swore, if they'd associate with a revenuer.

Nearly a year passed.

Josie said, one morning, "Rance has done resigned, Paw—you-all best watch out now, some new revenuers may come erlong."

"Rance never molested us because he was afeered," Clay sneered.

"Rance can out-ramble and out-shoot you, Clay Freeman, and you know it," Josie exclaimed.

"Look yere now, gal, be you almin' fer to marry up with Rance? I warn ye—we won't stand fer it."

"I'm going to marry up with Rance right soon, paw, and if you had any sense you'd see a hole in a ladder."

"What do you mean, gal?"

"Rance has bought him the Suttle place, paid fer it and got him money in th' bank—"

"Revenue money — I'd be ashamed—"

"Hush up, paw. Rance never took no pore man's money. He raided them bootleggers that only pay you half what they should, and that made th' bootleggers hafter go an' buy more from you all."

ZEB WELL PLEASED

"You're dumb, Clay Freeman, you ain't got th' sense God give a goose! Every time you-all was makin' moonshine I kept that 'Carolina Moon' song a-goin' on my phonygraft, and whenever Rance driv erlong an' heered that he knew what you was doin' so he and his revenuer companion went some other direction and not only that—here he comes now, you ask him."

Old Zeb hesitated a moment.

"Is that right, 'bout Josie playin' that Carolina Moon piece to let you know when we was runnin' off the mash, Rance?"

"That's right, sir."

They all shook hands.

The night Rance and Josie were married they had a real orchestra of three pieces for dancing, and the first piece they played, by request, was "Carolina Moon."

THE ROAD BACK

-:- By Erich Maria Remarque

Places That Were Familiar to Ernst Seem Changed

CHAPTER XXV.

In the distance I see a solitary figure approaching. It is George Rahe.

"What are you doing here?" he asks in surprise.

"What are you?"

"Same here," I reply.

I turn red.

"Nothing to be ashamed of," he says. "Been trying to catch fish again?"

I nod. "And then what?" he asks.

I shake my head.

We sit down on a log and begin to smoke. Rahe takes off his cap. "Remember how we used to exchange postage stamps here?"

"Yes, I remember—And how the timber yard smelt in the sun of resin and tar; how the poplar trees shimmered and the wind blew up cool from the water. I still remember it all—how we hunted for green frogs; how we used to read books here together; how we would talk of the future and of life, where it lay waiting for us there beyond the blue horizon, alluring as soft music.

"It all turned out rather differently, eh, Ernst?" says Rahe, and smiles—this smile that we all have, something bitter and something weary. "Why, we even caught fish differently out there! One bomb into the water and then up they would come floating to the surface, with burst swimming bladders and white bellies. It was more practical, there's no denying."

"How do you suppose, George," I ask, "that we just sit around here like this and don't even know what we should begin to do?"

"You find there's something missing, Ernst, eh?"

I nod. He taps me on the chest. "I think I can tell you—I've been thinking about it, too. You see this here," he points to the meadows before us, "that was life; it flowered and grew, and we grew along with it. And that behind us—" he motions with his hand backwards into the distance—"that was death; it killed and destroyed, and destroyed some thing of us along with the rest." He smiles again. "We're in need of repairs a little, my boy."

"Perhaps things would be better if only it were summer," I say. "Everything is easier in summer."

"No, it's not there the trouble lies," he answers, blowing the smoke before him. "It's something very different from that, I think."

"What then?" I ask.

He shrugs his shoulders and stands up. "Let's be going, Ernst—Would you care to know what I've decided to do?" He stoops down to me. "I think I'm going to become a soldier again."

"You're crazy, George!" I say in consternation.

I stop. "But George—"

He walks on. "Well, you see, I've been here now a couple of weeks longer than you," he says and starts talking of other things.

STRANGE THOUGHTS

When the first houses appear I take my jar with the tittlebacks and empty it back into the brook. With flicks of their tails they are gone. The jar I leave standing on the bank.

I take leave of George and he walks off slowly down the street. In front of our house I stand still and look after him. His words have strangely troubled me. A vague, threatening something seems to be sneaking upon me; it retreats when I try to grapple with it, it disperses when I advance upon it, and then it gathers again behind me and watches.

The sky hangs like lead over the low shrubbery of the Lutsenplatz, the trees are bare, a loose window is clashing in the wind and amid the frowsy alder bushes in the garden of the square squats the November twilight, dank and cheerless.

I peer over into it; and suddenly it is as if I saw it all today for the first time, so unfamiliar that I hardly know it again. This dirty, damp patch of grass—was this really the setting of those years of my childhood, so radiant and winged in my memory? This waste, dreary square with the factory yonder—can this be that quiet corner of earth we called "home" and which alone amid the waters of destruction out there meant hope to us and salvation from perishing in the flood? Or was it not rather a vision of some far other place than this gray street with its hideous houses that rose up there, over the shell holes, like some wild, sad dream in the grudging intervals between death and death? In my memory was it not far more shining and lovely, more spacious, and abounding with 10,000 things? Is that no longer true, then? Did my blood lie and my memory deceive me?

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS

I shiver. It is different, yet without having changed. The clock in the tower of Neubauer's factory is still going; it strikes the hours still as in the days when we used to stare up at its face to see the finger move. The black boy with the clay pipe is still sitting over the tobacconist's shop where George Rahe bought us our first cigarets; and in the grocer's opposite are the same pictures advertising the same soap powder.

I do not understand how it can be that I should stand here and yet no longer feel about it as I did in the barracks and out there in the shell holes. What has become of all its riches, the thrill, the brightness, the glamour, and that other thing that is unnameable? Had my memory of it more of life than the reality itself or is that become reality, while this has shrunk and shriveled up, till now nothing is left of it but bare scaffolding where gay banners once waved? Did the splendor detach itself from these things and places, now only to float over them like a forlorn cloud? Did the years out there burn the bridges that lead back into the past?

Questions, questions—but no answer.

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

Synopsis

Ernst, who enlisted when a schoolboy, tells the post-war story of a group of friends who hail from the same section and who return after peace is made, finding a strange world to which they feel impossible to become adjusted. Ernst feels that his friends and war memories alone are real, his family strangers. His mother thinks of him not as he is but as he used to be. In desperation the boy escapes from the house and walks out into the country, trying to recapture earlier impressions—but in vain.

Why Finance Only The Financiers?

It will tend to restore confidence and relieve a situation that has restricted credit to sound institutions.

The utter folly and recklessness of standing by and letting uncontrolled liquidation take its course has at length become patent.

Action is timely at this occasion when the suspension of gold standard in Great Britain and eight other countries has stamped the dollar as the SUPREME UNIT OF CURRENCY.

As the world financial center, New York has recently become the temporary dumping place for the outside world of foreignowned American stocks and bonds.

Jealous and irresponsible foreign interests, envious of America's new financial primacy, spread insidious rumors concerning possible economic weakness on this side.

In collaboration with bankers, President Hoover has served notice on the world that technicalities would be surmounted, and machinery would be forged to tap America's UNPARALLELED gold resources for the purpose of maintaining American economic supremacy.

The chief magistrate has proposed a set-up for organizing banking relief, to end the fear psychology on the part of the public which has caused sound banks to keep themselves so abnormally liquid that they have been unable to perform their customary services to business.

Instead of proceeding directly through the Federal Reserve system to increase the availability of bank credit, the President proposes a privately subscribed banking pool of at least half a billion dollars, for the rediscounting of bank paper which under the present law is not eligible for rediscount at the Federal Reserve.

It is purely an emergency measure. The President pledges that he will ask Congress to broaden the eligibility provision of the Federal Reserve Act in order to give greater liquidity permanently to the assets of banks.

IN VIEW OF THE EMERGENCY, WHY DOES MR. HOOVER AVOID CALLING CONGRESS IN SPECIAL SESSION NOW TO SIT ON HIS PROPOSAL, INSTEAD OF WAITING TWO MONTHS FOR THE REGULAR SESSION.

President Hoover further promises to recommend that Congress put additional capital into the Federal Land Banks to assure their solvency, and better enable them to extend long-term credit to farmers at a low rate.

The Hearst newspapers, which have long advocated a constructive plan for ending the deflation and restoring normal conditions of employment, welcome any indications of a desire to act, instead of continuation of the credit-destroying policy of inaction.

THEY RECOGNIZE THAT THE BANKS ARE AT THE NERVE CENTER OF OUR ECONOMIC SYSTEM, AND MUST BE SAFEGUARDED, IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

They believe that the good results from a fruitful program will gradually spread to ALL classes in the community.

BUT WHY, IF THE PRESIDENT RECOGNIZES THE NEED OF BANKING RELIEF, IS HE SO DEAF TO THE DEMAND FOR JOB-CREATING UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF?

WHY THINK ONLY OF FROZEN COLLATERAL, WHEN MORE THAN 6,000,000 HUMAN BEINGS ARE WALKING THE STREETS WITHOUT EMPLOYMENT?

If counter-deflation has become the objective, as well it might, a practical means in this direction would be the floatation of a federal prosperity loan of $5,000,000,000 for the financing of useful public works and social reconstruction.

Such an operation would be carried on with the help of bank credit, which would be mobilized for prompt use in job-giving activities.

Any amplification of bank credit through manipulation without an accompanying program of production may result in a mere unwanted surfeit of bank reserves.

Preparing the Budget

The Chamber of Commerce and Other Bodies Can Help To Reduce Municipal Expenses.

Council will soon consider next year's budget.

Mayor Kline and Chairman English, of the Finance Committee, have instructed department heads to keep their estimates of their requirements as low as possible.

Their attitude is encouraging, but it should be reinforced with a public demonstration for economy.

This can be furnished by the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies. The businessmen and other taxpayers of Pittsburgh should not take it for granted that there will be a tax reduction, but should plainly tell Council that they expect one, and should help to make it possible.

This they can do by offering suggestions for reducing expenses such, for example, as were made a year ago by the Building Owners and Managers Association and the Real Estate Board in their recommendations for changes in the management of the municipal buildings.

With careful study and cordial co-operation, it should be easy to reduce the burdensome levy on real estate at least a mill or two without impairment of the public service.

No Longer Unwillingly

Attendance Records Indicate Pennsylvania Schools Have Become More Attractive to Children.

During the school year 1922-23 the days of absence per pupil enrolled totaled 15. Last year they totaled 10.

Those acquainted with the old gentleman handling the saw, well know that making mistakes of this kind is not his specialty.

A happy dream is pleasant while it lasts and there is no harm in it. But three-quarters of the House of Representatives combine votes for prohibition with a flask on the hip, because they are afraid of the prohibition vote.

Just how you can get rid of prohibition without the assistance of the Congress is not easily explained.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Nut apartments, sponsored by playboys, are adding a spice of gaiety to life's tedium to inspire these days. They are flossed up with all sorts of comical devices to inspire laughs and restore some of the jollity of the good old past.

Thus an invited guest may push the door buzzer upon arriving and receive a squirt of water in the face. A stage type of solemn butler will take the guest's hat, suddenly drop it to the floor and then swift kick it to one side.

At one I visited the other evening I was asked if I would wait a few moments in the reception hall. A little later the butler returned and reported that the host did not care to see me. In utter confusion I turned to go and was told the elevator had stopped running.

I was shown the stairway and walked down two flights when a policeman in uniform popped out and sneered: "Up to your old tricks, eh?" I explained in frightened falsetto the elevator was not working and that I was on my way to the street level.

"You can tell that at the station house," he snarled. "We have caught you at your old game—sneak thieving." I suppose my ghastly pallor kept him from going further for he whistled and a crowd rushed from around the corner and we waited the next victim.

One apartment near Beekman Place has a dining room with chairs that give out electric shocks from hidden levers controlled by the host. He touches them when a spoonful of soup is half way raised to the mouth and such fun!

Another talked about nut party was a "musicale" in a 57th street apartment. The entertainer was a pseudo Polish pianist. He ordered the lights dimmed, demanded perfect silence and skyrocketed other bursts of temperament. Then he sat down and played chop sticks.

In about a month the George Washington Memorial Bridge opens for traffic, and to my notion is New York's greatest wonder. The Empire, as an architectural feat, pales into insignificance beside the mile and a half span stretching from upper Riverside Drive to the Jersey palisades. Brooklyn Bridge is only half as long. It required 14 years to build Brooklyn Bridge and four years for this Hudson structure. The bridge is especially beautiful in that purple glower that hazes the palisades at dusk. Flocks of painters are there daily to imprison the sheer grandeur on canvas. It is estimated 30,000,000 automobiles will cross it yearly.

Brewster, Physicist and Inventor

By Archibald Henderson

A scientist is sometimes known to the general public for some minor contribution to knowledge, as compared with his other far more important work. This is the case of Sir David Brewster, who is popularly known as the inventor of the kaleidoscope. But Brewster was a distinguished physicist. He may be said to have been, with Wheatstone, the joint inventor of the stereoscope. He was a master in the manipulation of lenses. And his researches on the subject of light made him internationally famous. He was a prodigious worker, a prolific writer, and the editor of various educational works. He was undoubtedly one of the most useful scientists of his day.

David Brewster was born in Jedburgh in Scotland, on December 11, 1781. The son of the rector of the local grammar school, he was destined for the ministry. The strain of preaching was too great for him, and he abandoned the pulpit for the editorial chair and the post of tutor.

At the age of 27 he became the editor of the Edinburgh Encyclopaedia, to which he made many contributions as writer. He became very much interested in the subject of light and the phenomena of optics. Before he was 30 he had begun the long series of investigations in these subjects, which are associated with his name. He invented the kaleidoscope, a scientific top which produced an infinite number of symmetrical figures. This device has been extensively employed in industry, to secure suitable and attractive designs and patterns for carpets, wall papers and other fabrics.

Into the stereoscope, invented by Wheatstone, Brewster introduced refracting lenses. He was then able to resort to the photographic art for his pictures, producing remarkably satisfactory results. Forty years ago, the Brewster stereoscope was in thousands of homes in England and this country. By suitably adjusting the focus, two pictures, side by side and exact duplicates, blend exactly into one. The effect of relief, supplied naturally by the eye, is consequently greatly intensified.

In 1816 he made experiments of such importance on the polarization of light that he was awarded the Copley medal. His device was to secure reflections between plates. Three years later, for further researches in the same field, he was awarded the Rumford gold and silver medals. He was a Fellow of the Royal Society, and a member of many famous scientific academies of numerous countries. In 1831 he was granted a government pension. He assisted in the founding of the British Association, of which he was an active and prominent member. He is credited with explaining for the first time the nature and cause of color-blindness. This famous scientist, inventor, author, editor, died on February 10, 1868.

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Influence

We are products of all that has gone before
In the ceaseless march of time,
Since our race set out from an unknown shore
On its quest of the porta sublime.

We are fashioned of all that the years have known,
We are makers of all to be.
And none can live to himself alone
For the wave must be part of the sea.

There was never a gesture of lifted hand
Or the sound of a spoken word
But its force was felt to Earth's uttermost land
And the winds of the ages stirred.

It may be that some whimsey no man can know
Shaped the deeds we have done this day;
Some faint echo of fancies of long ago
Guides our steps in their chosen way.

We are holding the future in lifted hand
Or the sound of a whispered word,
And its force may be felt to Earth's farthest land
While the winds of the years may be stirred.

Elephant That Ants Killed

DRIVEN MAD BY ANTS

The big picture at the top shows the most powerful animal now inhabiting the earth, except the whale. The little picture shows samples of driver ant "soldiers" among the smallest of things with which we come in contact.

There are, of course, thousands of tribes of creatures, invisible to our eyes, some of them as dangerous to human beings as the driver ants are dangerous to the huge elephant.

The driver ants, most numerous and dangerous in the Rainy Forests on the western coast of Africa, are the most terribly destructive creatures on earth, in proportion to their size.

John W. Vandercook, writing for the London Sphere, cites instances in which elephants, surrounded and surprised by hordes innumerable of these tiny creatures, have vainly sought to escape in flight.

Mr. Vandercook writes:

"The drivers, secure in their several billions, fear nothing. They have been known to kill elephants. An elephant, one must remember, is of all animals perhaps the least fitted to deal with a small enemy. Against a lion or a leopard it can oppose its crushing weight, the agile strength of its trunk and the great, pile-driver feet. But from a tiny driver an elephant can only flee, if possible, into deep water or, better still, to a mud wallow in some swamp . . . However, an elephant is sometimes lamed so it cannot run. A concealed hole or a careless hunter can do that. In that case, if the drivers come, the huge beast will be almost surely doomed. The elephant's instinctive weapon against them is its trunk—and the trunk of an elephant is so sensitive a pin-prick will produce acute pain. One can imagine then the effect of a thousand biting drivers swarming in that delicate tube. Others will cover the enormous writhing carcass like a flood of oil. The eyes will be quickly vulnerable against the drivers' mandibles, even the most calloused parts of the hide cannot last long. Natives say these ants can clean an elephant to white, smooth bone in less than three days."

Entirely carnivorous, cleaning up all flesh in their path, the ants travel ceaselessly, in long regiments, miles in length, protected by the leafage of the heavy forest.

the African sun will kill a driver ant in two minutes." It is important to realize the power of sunlight in destroying insect and especially germ life.

The sunlight that kills insects and the germs with its powerful actinic rays, stimulates and strengthens the human blood stream, when exposure to sunlight is of moderate duration, the HEAD ALWAYS PROTECTED.

It is criminal folly to expose the head in brilliant sunshine for any length of time. This should be remembered by those that go without hats.

It is impossible to estimate the numbers of driver ants that travel their destructive paths in Africa. They have been known to come upon a man asleep, leaving nothing of him but white bones and the clothing on them.

On either side of the marching column the "ant soldiers" shown in the little picture march as a protecting guard. These soldiers with their fierce fighting machinery, drive off enemies and begin the attack. Better able than their "worker" brothers to endure sunlight, they form with their bodies tunnels through which the working ants travel when it becomes necessary to cross a sunlit space.

African natives fear the driver ants more than they fear lions or poisonous reptiles. The fiercest animals, most poisonous snakes fear the ants as the natives do.

However, natives that have knowledge in advance of the approaching ant army, welcome its arrival and gladly arrange for it to pass through their houses.

They themselves hide until the ants have gone. After the visit the houses are absolutely clean, all vermin removed, rats, mice, insects of every sort exterminated.

It seems strange that a tiny ant, less than half an inch in length, can drive an elephant insane with pain and fear.

Here in North America, where the driver ants are unknown, we have another microscopic enemy, our "small worries," which drive us to despair as the savage ants drive the elephant.

And as the elephant cannot cope with the ants, so we cannot escape our worries.

Strangest of all, the driver ants are absolutely blind. What guides them on their savage marauding trips?

League Court Failure

Proof of Its Incompetence as a Tribunal of Justice Furnished in Recent Decision.

"Justice is mocked," declares the News-Sentinel, of Fort Wayne, Ind., in an editorial on the League Court. Continuing, the newspaper said:

"If any further proof had been needed of the incompetence of the World Court as a tribunal of justice, it was furnished the other day, when that much-touted coterie of League of Nations darlings decided that the proposed Austro-German customs union was illegal—by a vote of 8 to 7 . . .

"The Court's charter declares it to be comprised of a 'body of independent judges, elected regardless of their nationality from among persons of high moral character,' etc. Yet, please observe that the justices who voted against the customs union were from France, Poland, Rumania, Spain, Cuba, Colombia, Italy and Salvador. This is the court of 'impartial justice'—the 'high court of the nations'—which the United States is asked to join!"

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company will do a $32,000,000 business in the Pittsburgh district through its East Pittsburgh shops this year, according to a statement by A. W. Robertson, chairman of the company's board of directors.

Mr. Robertson said:

"Fifty-six per cent of all employes in the East Pittsburgh shops are working four days a week, 17 per cent three days and 16 per cent less than three days."

Mr. Robertson explained that the company normally employs 18,000 in the Pittsburgh district and that 14,800 names are now carried on the current payroll.

Continuing, Robertson said:

"The company as a whole normally employs 52,000 persons; today we have about 40,000 on our payrolls."

It was indicated by him that $22,000,000 would be paid in wages and salaries this year and $10,000,000 would be spent for supplies in this district.

COURAGE URGED IN INDUSTRY

Dr. George M. Verity, chairman of the board of the American Rolling Mill Company, in an address Tuesday night before the Westinghouse Club of Wilkinsburg, said:

"Those groups who can contribute most in the way of courage, confidence, inspiration and endurance are of most value to the world in these times of economic stress."

He declared that industry never was in as strong a position to put its house in order as it is today. He continued:

"Industry has not been injured physically. Its plants and equipment are better; it is just as productive and its organization is more efficient than it ever was.

"The world is now in the calm which follows a storm. We have now entered a real endurance contest, and success in the future will go to the fellow who can hold on, who refuses to be discouraged."

SCHOOL PUSHES ATHLETICS

There will be no "book worms" at the Arnold School, Braddock avenue, if Physical Director Claude H. Hubbard has anything to say about it.

"It is a plan which is being adopted extensively by Eastern and Middle Western schools and colleges. Each student is first given a thorough physical examination and a series of special exercises is prescribed for him if needed."

Part of the schools new $100,000 gymnasium, which is nearly completed, has been set aside for this work.

In addition to the exercises, every student at the school is required to participate in some athletic activity. Three football teams have been organized, and for those who are not members of one of these teams, speed ball has been organized.

BOWLING GREEN BUILT IN PARK

The bowling season in Pittsburgh will not close with the coming of the hot weather next year, but may become even more popular. Like the villages of the early Dutch settlers, Pittsburgh is to have a bowling green.

The construction of the green, started a year ago in Schenley Park and will not be ready for bowling until next spring. A great amount of fill was used in making the mound, with its hollow in the center. The sod is even better than that used on putting greens. All spring and summer, men have been taking care of the grass, watering, rolling and cutting it, so that it will be solid for next spring.

The green is under the supervision of the Department of Parks.

Ann Street Repairs Start in Homestead

Homestead Borough has started repair work on low spots in Ann street between Ninth and Fifteenth avenue, with indications that the work would require several weeks for completion.

WATER SUPPLY SHIFT DENIED

The borough of Homestead will continue to draw its water supply from the low-pressure water line along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks instead of the high pressure line from which it drew its supply last week, according to Borough Clerk Harry Markley. He said:

"We were only placed on the high pressure line temporarily due to a leak in the low pressure line. We will most likely remain on the low pressure now, as it was too much of a drain on the other."

The change will necessitate the use of a pump to push the water into the city reservoir.

The main under the Monongahela River was tested last week by water inspectors, and no leaks were found.

NEW FLOORING FOR BRIDGES

McKeesport is the scene of an experiment that may revolutionize bridge building and give to the steel industry a new outlet for its product, all because the floor of the new Boston Bridge at McKeesport is being constructed of a steel composition called tri-lok.

If proven satisfactory as a flooring for bridges, the new type of structure, which is being manufactured by the Homestead Steel Works, may possibly become popular in street paving, its promoters explain.

According to the engineers directing the construction of the bridge flooring, this steel is capable of withstanding every demand of traffic and is less than half the weight of the ordinary floor covering for bridges.

Sponsors of the invention claim that its reduction in weight will make possible a saving of millions of dollars in bridge construction cost.

E. E. SOCCERITES MONOPOLIZE LEAGUE

Seven Teams of Eight in Central Circuit Hail From District; Douglas Stars

By TOM BIRKS

With the German Sport Club deciding to play its home games in the Central Soccer League at Sullivan Field, the East End section is monopolizing seven out of eight clubs making up the roster of the best soccer league in the Pittsburgh district.

Even though some of the games last week were one-sided, many real games were scheduled and when the leaders finally come together things are going to happen fast.

The champion Clan Douglas eleven has come through all of its games in fine style and Manager Frank Mincher reports that large crowds are packing the Westinghouse High School stadium to watch the black and white in action.

VETERANS ON TEAM

Manager Mincher has been very fortunate in keeping the personnel of last season's championship together. Bobby Marshall is only addition, and Marshall is good man to have in the last of defense.

Whether Manager Tom Kewanis is satisfied with his experiment of taking his home game from Lesser Park to Aspinwall under the lights is not known, but the fans were far from satisfied with the lighting effects. In fact had the game been tight anything might have happened.

Tarentum was not any match for the Green and White and this might have placed a damper on the crowd. Tarentum will have to go out and line up a few players if they are going any place in the league.

The most noticeable feature was the work of Eichel, McNair and Nelson for the Union Switch against the Westinghouse team.

NEW CLUBS WEAK

The new clubs in the loop are showing signs of weakness. National Tube helped the German Sport Club initiate the season. Bill Montgomery has lined up quite a number of veterans in the Tube roster.

Jimmy Dunlop, probably one of the most popular players ever to kick a ball in Pittsburgh, has been named manager of the Pittsburgh Rovers. Dunlop had a bad break in his first game as a manager, having to be helped off the field at Clan Douglas last Saturday with a leg injury.

Harry McClure has been named secretary of the Rovers Club, and Dunlop is out after players to strengthen the Brown and White.

CLAN DOUGLAS STAR IN ACTION

CLAN DOUGLAS SOCCER TEAM'S FULLBACK FOSTER IN ACTION

Fullback Foster, one of the most vigorous soccer players to come from the old country and one of the most dependable in the Pittsburgh district, expected to have a good season.

MERIT BADGES GIVEN SCOUTS

Several Homestead Boy Scouts have been advanced in rank during the past few days by a board of review consisting of Frank S. Hale, W. F. Stevens, Wallace Hill, scout executive, F. J. Hahn and A. W. Skyrmes. The advancements were as follows:

Merit badges: Weather, Gaza Bito, John Lang, swimming, Andrew Miller, pathfinding, Thomas Griffin, Woodrow Wilson, leathercraft, Gaza Bito, handicraft, Martin Lang, John Lang, Harry Lewis, Thomas Wilson, first aid to animals, Stanley Skyrmes, Charles Dixon, first aid, Harry Lewis, John Lang, Woodrow Wilson, firemanship, William Pugh, cycling, James A. Porter, Woodrow Wilson, cooking, Harry Lewis, Gaza Kalona, carpentry, Edwin Colclaser, Stanley Crok, Regis Fechter, Stanley Skyrmes, Charles Dixon, craftsmanship, basketry, Regis Fechter, Edwin Colclaser; public health, Alex Rapsch; pioneering, Stanley Skyrmes; personal health, William Pugh; handicraft, William Pugh and Jack Kearns.

B'nai Israel Card Party October 20

The B'Nai Israel Sisterhood will hold its annual card party October 20 in Kaufmann's dining room under the chairmanship of Mrs. Theodore Rothman.

Her aides include Mrs. B. Davis, Mrs. I. L. Scheinman, Mrs. I. F. Miller, Mrs. S. Wesoky, Mrs. S. Zuckermann, Mrs. M. Unger, Mrs. I. I. Giften, Mrs. I. A. Melnick, Mrs. D. Littman, Mrs. I. Cohen, Mrs. M. Laskin, Mrs. J. Pickholtz, Mrs. D. Kart and Mrs. H. Pitler.

Royal Neighbor Club Elects New Officers

Catherine Smith has been elected president of the Boosters Club of the Royal Neighbors of America, East Boroughs district. Other officers for 1931-32 are: Josephine Baker, vice president; Margaret Groesic, chancellor; Catherine Reilly, recorder; Mary Carrie Hollis, receiver; Mary Simonsmarshall; Margaret Rowall, inner sentinel; Mary McCabe, flag bearer, and Mary Darling and Margaret Porter, managers.

OLYMPICS PLAY BURNS CLUB

With the dropping of the East Pittsburgh Firemen from the ranks of the independent gridiron conference, fans in the East End following the big circuit will have to trek to Olympia Park, McKeesport, for their share of the conference games.

Next Sunday at Olympia, the Dan Burns Club of New Kensington will clash with the Olympics with a second place at stake in the league standing.

This game will bring to the Tube City one of the smartest quarterbacks in the district, in Stanley Berkman, captain of the Burns Club and former Thiel College star. To Berkman goes much of the glory in the success of the Burns Club, and his matching of wits with Hymie Goldberg, who calls the signals for the Olympics, will be watched with interest.

McKeesport fans feel that the Olympics this season are the strongest club ever to wear the famous black and white.

The club looked powerful even in defeat at Bridgeville last Sunday, and dropped forward passes might be the reason why the Tubers lost.

Manager Bull Boyer lost little time in signing Sullivan, the flashy little East Pittsburgh player when the Quarry Club was dropped from the conference and Karris departed from the Tubers to the Roosters.

Boyer is not satisfied with his club. Fans on the inside know that Boyer is dickering for a plunging fullback. Newlin, Carroll, Benedict and Edwards are all good ball carriers, but a crasher like Mose Keish or Hood is needed to make the yardage when necessary.

TRAFFIC BANS IN N. BRADDOCK

New traffic regulations have been put in force in North Braddock, following passage of an ordinance by borough council which prohibits parking at all times on the west side of North Penn street from Hawkins to Baldridge avenue, east side of Fourth street south of Hawkins avenue, west side of Fourth street 50 feet south of Hawkins avenue, and Alax street south of Hawkins avenue. Alax street from Lemmer street to Hawkins avenue is a one-way street under the new ordinance.

Halloween Party In Homestead Park

The Homestead Park Community Club was to hold its annual Halloween party tonight in the Municipal Building. The entertainment committee includes Mrs. B. Natcher, Mrs. T. Slater, Mrs. George Fisher and Mrs. Partington.

Kesel, treasurer; Dr. Charles Spowart, assistant treasurer; Miss Esther A. Rooser, secretary; Miss Catherine Moore, girls' gymnasium; Wilbur White, men's gymnasium; Miss Margaret Griffin, bridge; Miss Marion O'Connor, theater parties; Miss Elizabeth Kearns, literary group; F.
